Construction Of Extension Addition To Hotel Starts During Winter

EXPECT OPENING IN JULY

Announcement Of New Building Comes On Thirty-seventh Anniversary Of Hotel

Sixty rooms will be added to the hotel accommodations in Appleton by July 1, 1924, by a 6-story addition to the Conway hotel which will be completed by that time, according to an announcement by John Conway, president of the Conway Hotel company. The announcement comes on the thirty-seventh anniversary of the opening of Mr. Conway's hotel in Appleton.

The addition to the hotel is more than twice as large as any previous addition. It will add banquet rooms and dining room space to seat 400 guests. The new part of the building will be erected at the east end of the hotel, which will be divided to make a lounge, a banquet room and corridor from the kitchens.

Several changes in the present building will be made necessary by the new section. The French room will be used in connection with the coffee shop and will be open for service at the same hours as the dining room has been.

The new part of the building will open off the main dining room. These may be opened up to give additional seating capacity to the large hall. The small banquet room in the present hotel will be retained.

MEETS ARCHITECT

The exact dimensions of the addition will be determined by the architect, Tullgren and Sons of Milwaukee, after a conference with Mr. Conway on Wednesday. The original plans as submitted to the hotel owners, showed the sleeping rooms too small and he requested that a revision be made. Of the 50 sleeping rooms, 30 will be with baths and the others will have running water and toilets. The bathrooms will be equipped with showers in addition to built-in tubs.

START IN WINTER

The private offices of the hotel will be removed to the east end of the new part. Additional sample rooms will be fitted up in the basement. A completely new elevator service will be installed to take guests to all floors in the new part. Plans for the hotel will be completed not later than Jan. 15 and bids on the construction will be opened by Jan. 25. It is expected that work will be commenced by Feb. 1. The contractors will be required to have the work done by June 15 so that a July 1 opening may be planned upon.

In speaking of the anniversary of the hotel, Mr. Conway said that the Sherman house under which name the hotel was known for more than 35 years was the first in this part of the state to have electric lights. He said that in the early days, the management had to send bellboys up to the rooms to show the guests how to turn on the lights. Many of them did not know how to turn them off and so allowed them to burn all night, which was exceedingly expensive in those days. The formal opening of the Sherman house took place on Dec. 6, 1886.

PLAN MEASURE TO RAISE PRICE

Propose Tax Of 7½ Cents And Increase Of 30 Cents On Exports

By Associated Press
Minneapolis—Legislation designed to raise the price of American wheat 22½ cents a bushel by taxing domestic wheat 7½ cents a bushel and adding 30 cents to price of all wheat exported was proposed Wednesday by the American Wheat Growers association in a letter sent to Minnesota congressmen by George C. Jewett, general manager.

The proposed measure calls for the creation of a government commission which would collect a tax on all American grown wheat through railways and certified mill reports and apply the premiums on an equitable basis on flour milled in America and shipped abroad.

"This plan has no element of price fixing in it and it will offer a direct subsidy to the wheat grower immediately upon being put in effect, the letter said. "No elaborate structure is needed for administration. It will operate as if a direct subsidy had been applied to American wheat based upon Liverpool prices."

The letter outlined the basic points of the measure, as approximately 700,000 bushels leave the farm in America for market.

The tax would yield a fund of $9,000,000 to be applied upon the exported wheat, approximately 170,000,000 bushels. The premium would be 30 cents a bushel.

The enhanced export price will have to be met by those desiring to purchase domestic wheat.

The farmer in America will receive therefore, 30 cents above the world price of wheat and will pay out 7½ cents, as tax.

The tax and premium should be revised each year to accord with the variation in the quantity of American wheat.

The present tariff must be increased from 30 cents to 60 cents a bushel.

KIDNAPING CLEWS
FAIL IN CHICAGO

By Associated Press
Chicago—Although countless likely clues have been traced by the police they are yet unable to throw any light on the mystery of Chicago's two kidnappings which occurred within a few hours of each other.

Sunday evening, 12-year-old Rose Borch failed to return home from the grocery store to which she was sent on an errand. Her cap and the bread, milk and butter she was carrying home were found on the sidewalk.

The second disappearance, although it occurred Sunday evening, was not reported to the police until Tuesday. Mrs. Katherine Karatun told officers her 20-month-old baby Stanley was taken from behind her while she was purchasing some candy for him from a push cart.

Washington—William Jennings Bryan and his double were at the capitol Tuesday and caused much blinking of eyes by gallery throngs and members of congress. The double was dressed like Bryan, even to the upturned black curls just between the ears and above the collar.

The Bryan double was Representative Edgar Howard of Nebraska, a new member. He comes from the district once represented by Mr. Bryan and away back in the early 90's he was private secretary to Representative Bryan.

Mr. Howard has been a Bryanite for more than 30 years and regards Mr. Bryan as one of the greatest men America has produced.

By Associated Press
Bloomington, Ind.—If locomotive whistles were placed in more forward positions and adapted to a single high pitched note, many lives would be saved and approximately $5,000,000 would be cut from railroad coal bills, according to Professor Arthur L. Foley of Indiana university. Mr. Foley, who is head of the physics department and of the Waterman Institute for Scientific Research at Indiana, had made a study of sound intensity and a report of sound intensity whistles and claims the low pitch or chimes whistles are only about one sixth as effective as a high pitched warning signal.

Whistles should be standardized and given a higher pitch and the use of similar whistles for other purposes prohibited, according to Dr. Foley.

Dr. Foley has calculated that 2,434,025 tons of coal are consumed annually in generating steam to blow the nations locomotive whistles, a cost of $7,302,078 estimating the coal at $3 a ton. With the more forward location and a higher pitched whistle he maintains two thirds of the coal and many lives could be saved annually.

OSHKOSH COUNCIL
ADOPTS TAX PLANSPass Budget Despite Negative
Vote Of Mayor A. C.
Henry

By Associated Press
Oshkosh—With Mayor A. C. Henry voting in the negative, the commission adopted the tax budget Wednesday morning, officially fixing the tax rate at $2.70 for each $100 of assessed valuation. This figure is identical with last year, and conforms with a forecast made this week.

A total of $1,307,177.32 will be raised by taxation on this basis. That is $16,353.30 more than 1922. The assessed valuation is set at $44,710,271 which is an increase of $605,900 over the previous year.

Mr. Henry in voting against the budget declared it to be arbitrary, speculative and without any serious attempt to economize. The mayor resented responsibility of defending the budget. It was presented by councilman Charles F. Hart and sustained by councilman John C. Voss.

Oshkosh—Speaking to the Candlelight club composed of leading business and professional men, W. A. Hayes of Milwaukee, president Wisconsin Bar association, discussed the question of power of the supreme court to declare acts of congress unconstitutional. In brief he maintained that this power of the highest court in the land to rule upon legislation enacted by congress was a proper exercise of authority, that such power was intended to be conveyed to that court by the founders of the constitution. He said the court is not usurping power, as has been widely charged by politicians and that this right should be continued in the future, as it is the greatest protective measure for the individual provided for in the United States constitution. He said other nations are now copying that feature, realizing it gives the most perfect government ever devised by man. Only 49 acts of congress have been declared unconstitutional since the supreme court was established, Mr. Hayes stated, and only eight of these were by a five to four vote.

CONSERVATION WARDEN
HURT IN AUTO SMASHUP

By Associated Press
Ashland—Bill Grey, conservation warden, had five ribs broken, his chest caved in and his scalp cut when his car plunged into the ditch about a mile from Berksdale on the Berksdale-Washburn road Monday.

His father, F. T. Grey, who was with him escaped with a severe shaking up and a few scratches. The car was wrecked.

The accident occurred at the Omaha railroad where there are two curves. As Mr. Grey attempted to negotiate the first of these his steering gear refused to function properly and in an instant his car was in the ditch and up against a telegraph pole. He and his father were thrown from the car and were picked up by a passing automobile and taken home.

By Associated Press
Pierre, S. D.—Following endorsement of Calvin Coolidge, William G. McAdoo and Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin as presidential standard bearers for the Republican, Democratic and Farmer-Labor parties at state proposal meetings here Tuesday night, a group of proposal men from the Farmer-Labor element early Wednesday was endeavoring to make a partial fusion with the Democrats on state nomination proposals.

About 30 men out of 110 in the Farmer-Labor party denounced the national platform and bolted the convention to confer with the Democrats. According to participants, the dissatisfied Farmer-Labor men will attempt to frame a joint ticket from United States were down with the Democrats.

Leaders in the bolting Farmer-Labor group included Warren E. Beck, president of the state Federation of Labor; state Senator William Bartling; J. W. Batchelor, president of the Farmers Union of South Dakota; and Mark Bates, Farmer-Labor candidate for governor in 1922.

Confidence was expressed by both elements in the conference as to the prospect of a satisfactory state ticket which it was planned to take into the Democracy convention for adoption as the majority endorsement of the party.

According to word from the meeting from the chamber, efforts were being made to build a ticket which would equally divide the important state positions between the two parties. Some difficulty over the senatorial selection was anticipated but for governor and other state offices, an agreement seemed within reach, it was reported.

President Coolidge was given the majority nomination for president by the Republican proposal men over Senator Hiram Johnson of California by a vote of 50,379 to 27,340, and later the endorsement was made unanimous by a rising vote.

Mr. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, received the Democratic endorsement over Henry Ford, by a vote of 39,015 to 5,072.

The Farmer-Labor convention endorsed Senator La Follette by a vote of 31,999 against 7,247 for Henry Ford.

ROSEBUSH TERM
IN W. M. A. ENDSBy Associated Press
Milwaukee—The living wage theory and the closed shop are two Socialistic tendencies which have become parasites to industrial freedom, declared Dr. Gus. V. Dyer, head of the department of economics of Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn., in an address at the annual banquet of the Wisconsin Manufacturers association.

The living wage theory which demands that the industrial worker be paid according to his needs has been substituted for the natural law of supply and demand and thereby increasing the cost of production, and overpopulating certain lines of industry, said Dr. Dyer.

Following the annual banquet of the Wisconsin Manufacturers association here Tuesday night the directors elected these officers: George Carl Johnson, president; George Vice, Manitowish, vice-president; succeeding J. G. Rosebush, Appleton; George F. Kull, secretary and Mr. Ingersoll, Beloit, treasurer.

Oshkosh—Mrs. Arabella A. Locke, Winnebago-co's "grand old lady," attained her one hundred and fifth birthday anniversary, Tuesday, Dec. 4. The event was quietly celebrated with a dinner at noon, at which a number of relatives were present.

Mrs. Locke was able to be at the table and enjoy the festivities. She received many greetings. A birthday cake had on it one large candle to represent the century mark and about it were five smaller ones, it being decided that to have 105 candles would leave no room for the cake. The centenarian resides with her daughter, Miss Ida Locke, on a farm on the Winnebago-Omro road. It has been her home since 1868. Although an injury in a fall and her unusual age have somewhat weakened her, she is able to be up and about every day and is always cheerful. When her eyesight permits, she enjoys reading the newspapers, and keeps posted on current events. She was able to read without glasses until a couple of years ago. Born in Westfield, Conn., Dec. 4, 1818, she came to Wisconsin in 1851, settling near Omro.

OPEN HEARING ON
DRAINAGE PROJECTIzaak Walton League Opposes
Destruction Of Breeding
GroundsBy Associated Press
Winona, Minn.—Hearing was scheduled to open here Wednesday before war department officials on the proposal to drain Dark Slough near the Fountain City, Wis., a great breeding ground for wild life. Sportsmen, organized by the Izaak Walton league, are to appear in opposition to the suggested drainage project.

Wednesday's scheduled hearing brings to an issue the controversy that has arisen from a quest of owners of the big slough to drain off the water and convert the area into agricultural lands.

Members of the Izaak Walton league claim that consummation of such a project would mean destruction of one of the nation's greatest refuges for wild life. It is said that the slough is a great spawning ground for game fish and a breeding ground for wild fowl. They contend that the area would not be valuable as agricultural lands.

Will H. Dill, president of the league speaking at Chicago, urged the establishment of a national park covering this district in the upper Mississippi valley.

NAVAL OIL RESERVE

Montana FieldBy Associated Press
Washington—The naval district of Salt Creek was created, the senate public lands committee was told Tuesday during its inquiry into the leasing of naval oil reserves, by a captain of marines sent into the hills of Montana with four men to stop drilling on the property by alleged trespassers.

George H. Shuler, state treasurer of New York, was the captain who in July 1922 assumed the title of "commandant, Salt Creek naval district." He took this action, he testified "in order to give some force" to his dispossessing notice after the man in charge of the drilling had warned him that he was to keep everyone off the enclosed area would be enforced. The operations ended, Mr. Shuler added, ten minutes after his detachment arrived.

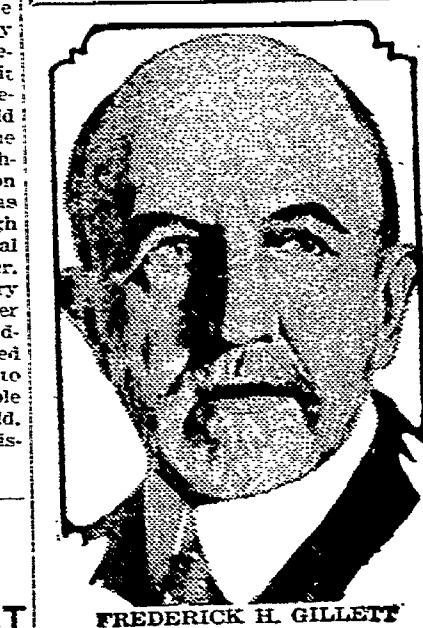

The witness said his detail was described by Major General Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, as a "very delicate job," and was undertaken after a conference with Albert H. Fall, then secretary of the interior.

Puzzling Feature Of Entire Balloting

London—This is the last day of speech making and canvassing preparatory to the casting of the ballots in the most puzzling general election of recent years. The energy thrown into the campaign by all parties in the last few days becomes even more intense as the drive for votes reaches its close, and from Wednesday morning until midnight the output of words on platforms and the house to house solicitations will reach the maximum.

About 21,000,000 voters in England, Scotland and Wales and Ulster, will go to the polls to choose 564 members of the house of commons. C. P. Wythe, Liberal candidate in West Derbyshire, died Tuesday of pneumonia and consequently no election will be held in that constituency. Lord Hartington, son of the Duke of Devonshire will not need to be nominated for the by-election that is to come later, and will stand against any new candidates who may appear.

How the vote of the women will be distributed continues to be one of the most puzzling features of the campaign. Another difficulty in estimating the result is caused by the inability of any one to gauge the probable number of votes of both sexes who will cast their ballots.

Coolidge Will Deliver Message
To Congress After Noon
Thursday

By Associated Press
Washington—Frederick H. Gillett, of Massachusetts, was re-elected speaker of the house Wednesday, when the Republican insurgents voted for him for the first time since a deadlock developed Monday.

The re-election of Mr. Gillett completed organization of the sixty-eighth congress and paved the way for President Coolidge to deliver Thursday his first message to a joint session of the house and senate.

The insurgents decided to abandon their fight after they had been assured by Representative Longworth of Ohio, the Republican leader, that opportunity would be afforded later to freely offer amendments to the house rules. From the start the insurgent group has maintained that its real fight was a rules revision.

The break came on the first ballot Thursday, the ninth taken for speaker since Monday noon. From the outset the insurgents had been casting 17 votes for Cooper of Wisconsin, one of their leaders, and three for Madden of Illinois.

On the final ballot, Gillett received 213 votes. Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic candidate, had 197 and 2 voted for Representative Madden. That gave Gillett a majority of seven votes.

The Democrats voted solidly for Garrett. The two who voted for Madden were James of Michigan and Reid of Illinois, both Republicans.

Representatives Krzale, Independent, Minnesota, and Wefald, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, who had supported Cooper voted present as did Garrett and Berger socialist, Wisconsin. Gillett did not vote.

President Coolidge's annual message to congress will be delivered at a joint session of the senate and house shortly after noon Thursday.

Definite decision as to the time of his appearance was reached Wednesday after the White House had been in communication with leaders at the capitol.

A few minutes before the house convened Mr. Nelson made the following statement:

"A committee of the progressive group of the house of representatives consisting of Messrs. Woodruff and Laguardia and myself met with majority leader Longworth last evening and discussed the proposed amendments for a revision of the rules of the house. At this meeting mutual assurances were given that the following program would be carried out:

"First—That the rules of the sixty-seventh congress should be adopted as the rules of the sixty-eighth congress for 30 days only.

"Second—That during these 30 days amendments to the rules may be offered by any member, to be referred to the committee on rules, which committee shall consider such amendments and make a report there on to the house.

"Third—Within such 30 days, the committee shall make a report of the rules and such amendments as they recommend. The rules and amendments as reported by the committee shall be subject to reasonable discussion amendment and record votes of the house.

"Fourth—When the committee shall have made its report any member of the house shall have opportunity to offer amendments to any rules of the house and may call for a record vote thereon whether such rule has been included in the report of the committee or not.

"Fifth—One motion to recommit shall be in order."

WISCONSIN GRANGE PICKS OFFICERS AT MEETING TONIGHT

Education Is Greatest Problem Before The People, Grange Speaker Says

Wisconsin State Grange, which is holding its fifty second annual session at Knutsen of Pothas hall will elect new officers at its meeting Wednesday evening. The sixth degree will be exemplified at the same meeting.

The exemplification of the third and fourth degrees by officers of South Green's Grange will take place Wednesday afternoon and the fifth degree will be exemplified Thursday afternoon.

The Wednesday afternoon program included a memorial service reading of cyber law and exemplification of the secret work, practice of such degree work, and committee meetings. Pothas and subcommittee members reports were submitted at Wednesday morning's session.

A public meeting was held at vocational school building Tuesday evening. The speaker was W. W. Deal, national chaplain and master of the Idaho Grange. He emphasized the value of the work the Grange was doing for farmers and called attention to the necessity of farmers providing for the maintenance of their products.

MARRIAGE BILL

He discussed also a cooperative marriage bill which the National Grange proposes to bring before congress which will be patterned along the lines of the federal land bank law. The program included vocal and instrumental music, readings and motion pictures.

Herman Ihde of Neshota, state master, gave his annual address at the opening session Tuesday afternoon. He discussed extension work of the Grange, highway work and education. Speaking on education he said those who control the education of the children control the destiny of the nation and "the Grange considers the question of education the most important problem confronting it at the present time."

"If we analyze our tax receipts," said Mr. Ihde, "we will find that the greatest share of our taxes are paid for the support of our school system. The question is, are our people getting the consideration it should have from an economic standpoint?"

"Too many times taxpayers, as well as school officials, are so negligent in their duties that they will have to be forced to comply with reasonable exactions. The consequence being that school control is constantly being taken away from them, and becoming more centralized."

"It is up to the Grange through its membership to insist upon efficient local school management, thus avoiding danger of its control drifting into centralized bodies."

Edward Nordman of the state marriage department at Madison will be the principal speaker Thursday morning. The new officers will be installed at the final session Thursday afternoon.

Place Postal Substation In Junction Area

Authorization of another postal sub-station in Appleton has been received by Postmaster William H. Zuehlke from the United States postal department at Washington, D. C.

The new station will be located in Crabbs grocery, 1324 Carver-st. P. A. Crabbs has been appointed clerk in charge. All arrangements have been made except the printing of money order blanks for this station. To permit completion of these arrangements, the opening of the station has been postponed until Dec. 16.

All the customary postal station business, such as sale of stamps, writing of money orders, registering and insuring of mail, weighing of parcels, will be transacted. The postmaster believes this an ideal location of a sub-station and one favorable for the residents of Third ward and Appleton Junction district. The store is located at the corner of Carver-st. Mason-st and Second-st. The postal counter is to be installed at the left of the door in an alcove.

This is the second sub-station to be located in Appleton, the first being established last year in Downer's West End pharmacy, on west College ave. Both stations are expected to help in relieving the usual Christmas congestion at the central postoffice.

NOTED MILWAUKEE PASTOR SPEAKS AT PEOPLE'S FORUM

Dr. Charles H. Beale Delivers
Sixth Of Series Of Sunday Night Addresses

Dr. Charles Hallock Beale, pastor of Grandview Congregational church, Milwaukee, will deliver the address at the People's forum in Lawrence Memorial chapel next Sunday evening. His subject will be "Frontiers—Answering where are we at? And where do we go from here? His address will be the sixth of the fall and winter series.

Dr. Beale has been in Milwaukee for 20 years. He has held pastorates in Brooklyn, N. Y.; Cadillac and Lansing, Mich., and Roxbury, Mass. Dr. Beale entered the ministry when he was 21 years of age and is now one of the recognized leaders in his denomination.

For five years Dr. Beale edited the "Beacon," official organ of Congregational churches in Michigan. He has an honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Olivet college.

The subject of his address is of exceptional interest in that it is a discussion of present day problems which Dr. Beale has had ample opportunity to study.

Like all forum meetings here, no admission will be charged but a collection will be taken to defray expenses. Last Sunday night only $65 was collected, $29 less than the average cost of meetings and considerably more than $20 less than the cost of last Sunday's program.

According to Fred E. Bachman, treasurer of the forum, the organization is steadily going behind because the small collections. Attendance at the meetings has been gratifying only very small amounts are being collected in the collection box. The forum committee is hopeful that next Sunday evening the collection will at least equal the average cost of the meetings.

ON THE SCREEN

PICTURE IS DARING EXPOSE OF SOCIETY

Jazz, glorified and leprosed jazz, aggravated and yet not exaggerated. Sensed in jazz, the social life of America betrays degradation and tragedy with its mask of "respectability."

There is a strong human lesson to be had in jazz, and the moral is forcefully conveyed in "Flaming Youth," a picture produced by First National featuring Colleen Moore, which is showing at the Elite Theatre today and tomorrow.

The picture is a spectacle, but it does not rely upon the spectacular to attain its purpose. As entertaining and daring as the book, by Warner Fabian, it carries the thrills that can be had in hectic drinking parties, blatant "tricky jazz" music, impromptu swimming parties where bathing suits are not considered prerequisite.

As forceful and significant as tragedy of life itself, the picture artistically and intelligently carries its moral lesson. To the director, John Francis Dillon, must go a great deal of credit for he has put into this picture the explosive situations of a melodrama.

Colleen Moore playing "Pat," enacts her role with amazing realism, maintaining always her purer ideals despite her surrender to curiosity. Myrtle Stedman, playing the mother, once again demonstrates that she is an actress of no unimportant degree. She is perfectly cast.

"Flaming Youth" is worth seeing. There is something new in its quality that approaches poetry, or silent music. It's a whirl, a dip, a high kick and a shimmy.

"WHAT I WANT I TAKE" AND HE DID!

"You've made me want you—and what I want I take! I'm coming back for you at midnight, and you're going with me!" Thus spoke the man to the beautiful woman who had played with his heart, who had laughed in his face, who had taken his love and then spurned it.

Then the hour of midnight found him waiting at the Cafe Real for the appearance of the beautiful golden-haired dancer, and those who saw Pennington so daintily and spectacularly kidnap the cabaret's brightest star are still talking about it as you'll do after you've seen it enacted in "The Woman Who Fooled Herself," showing at the New Bijou theater today and Thursday.

May Allison and Robert Ellis are co-featured in "The Woman Who Fooled

Ancient Church In Greenville Is Dismantled

The old Hoh church, a landmark in the town of Greenville, is no more. That ancient structure which has been sold and dismantled, the purchaser being Henry Ehlers, Medina.

The Lutheran church was once served from Appleton by the Rev. John Gensike, late pastor of St. Paul church. The last time he preached in the edifice was 28 years ago. In later years it was served by the pastor of another Lutheran church of Greenville. Finally both congregations consolidated and built a new church, Immanuel church of Greenville, of which the Rev. J. L. Kasper now is pastor. In years gone by the Hoh church, or St. Peter church, as it was officially known, was served by William H. Zuehlke of Appleton as organist.

After the union, the old church was abandoned, but the cemetery was still maintained. Mr. Ehlers, purchaser of the structure, found some excellent timbers and boards in the building that were practically as sound as when they were first used in building.

EXTEND ELECTRIC CABLE OVER RAVINE

Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power company is about to extend its cable on Lawrence street across the ravine at Jones park and to the west iron outskirts of the city in order to keep pace with its increasing number of patrons. The longest span will be over the ravine and to give it adequate support iron towers have been erected at each end of the bridge.

Herself," which is an Associated Exhibitors feature, produced by Edward A. McManus from an original story by Charles A. Logue. It is a drama of business and romance, and is said to be colorful in atmosphere and thrilling in action.

Miss Allison plays the role of a beautiful American chorus girl who is tricked into taking part in a business intrigue and then complicates the whole plot by falling love with the man she has ensnared.

MERCHANTS ADOPT HOLIDAY SCHEDULE

Each Line Of Business Establishes Different Hours For Closing Stores

People who expect to do their Christmas shopping evenings will find some of the stores open during the week preceding the holidays, except on Saturday, Dec. 22, when all will be open. An opening and closing schedule has been adopted which provides different hours for every line of business, according to custom set out by the retail division of the chamber of commerce.

All department stores but one will be closed every evening but Saturday of that week. They already have begun remaining open until 9 o'clock each night and until 9 o'clock on Saturday. The other department stores will follow this plan except that it will remain open Friday evening, Dec. 21.

Men's furnishing stores will have begun at 5 o'clock closing schedule and will remain open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings just prior to Christmas until 9 o'clock and following the usual Saturday closing plan.

Jewelry and hardware stores will remain open until 6 o'clock from now on and until 9 o'clock every evening until Christmas beginning Monday, Dec. 17. Grocery stores will keep open until 9 o'clock beginning Monday, Dec. 17.

Meat markets will also keep open until 9 o'clock and remain open Saturday nights until 9 o'clock. Shoe stores will follow the 4 o'clock schedule until Dec. 29, when they can keep a 9 o'clock closing schedule.

Opening hours are optional with merchants. All stores will close at 6 o'clock Christmas eve.

ROSSMEISSL ESTATE SUES FORD DEALER

A damage suit of $399.74 is being filed in the higher branch of municipal court for Wednesday, Dec. 12. Plaintiff of Mrs. Rossmeissl, against the August Brandt company, has been set for trial in the higher branch of municipal court for Wednesday, Dec. 12. Plaintiff of Mrs. Rossmeissl, against the August Brandt company, has been set for trial in the higher branch of municipal court for Wednesday, Dec. 12.

Damages of $399.74 are asked by the plaintiff of the August Brandt company as a result of a deal made in May, 1922, in which the defendant, according to Mrs. Rossmeissl, sold Mr. Rossmeissl an old Ford chassis as a new one. The purchase price was $441.12. Ryan & Cary are representing the plaintiff and F. V. Heinemann represents the defendant.

until Christmas beginning Monday, Dec. 17. Grocery stores will keep open until 9 o'clock beginning Monday, Dec. 17.

Fox River Valley Folks Are Investing In Milwaukee

Since Appleton's big Fox river valley gas and electric utility—Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co.—became associated with Milwaukee Electric and Wisconsin Gas & Electric under the same common stock ownership and management, last summer, the Securities Department has had offices in Appleton and Neenah for the sale of our securities. Through these offices and our agents in the field many Fox river valley men and women are becoming preferred share owners of Milwaukee's big electric utility and of Wisconsin Gas & Electric Co. at Racine.

Unified control with home management is advantageous to all of the associated Companies, and beneficial to their customers. It gives each utility the use of engineering, operating and financial resources beyond what either could command singly. This tends to better the service and to hold down its cost. The Appleton utility is one of the largest and best in Wisconsin. Its public service properties are being constantly developed and improved. It serves one of the richest industrial and farming districts in the State, and its growth keeps pace with that of the district it serves.

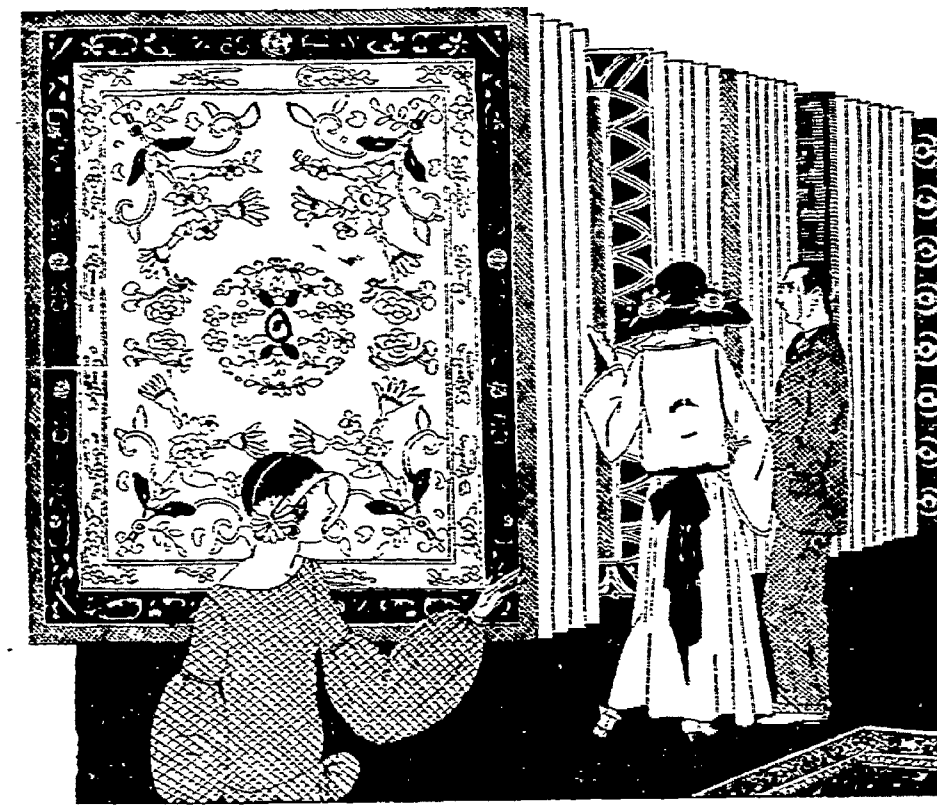

Wisconsin is rapidly becoming one of the foremost manufacturing States in the Union. Factories of all kinds each year depend more upon the gas and electric utilities for their light, heat and power. Small factory light and power plants cannot compete, either in quality or cost of service, with the large central plants. The securities of these utilities, when well planned and economically built and managed, as our properties all are, under strict State regulation, afford a safe income or savings investment for the funds of Wisconsin people.

Milwaukee Electric 7% cumulative preferred shares now on sale cost $100 each, and can readily be resold at that price, in case of need, less $1 a share charge for the service, through our Securities Department. This service is open only to those who buy the shares direct from the Company or its authorized agents. You can buy the shares paying all cash or $5 down and $5 a month per share. Either way you get 7% on every dollar invested, from the start. Dividends on paid-up shares are paid, by checks mailed to shareholders, on March 1, June 1, September 1 and December 1, every year. Milwaukee Electric has paid its preferred share dividends regularly every three months for the last twentyfour years. We shall be pleased to have you call and talk it over with us, or to send a salesman or a Circular, with full details. Mail orders filled by registered letter.

TAKING POINCARE AT HIS WORD

The failure of previous attempts to bring France and Germany nearer to a general basis of accord does not warrant much faith in the unanimous decision of the Reparations commission to investigate Germany's ability to pay. But it may be that the commission's action marks the turning point for which the world has been waiting. The British delegate, Sir John Bradbury, was delighted with the result: and England heretofore has been decidedly mistrustful of Premier Poincare.

The significant feature of the commission's determination is that it accepts Poincare's limitations. The investigation will be restricted to Germany's capacity to pay at this time and up to 1930.

Great Britain evidently proceeds on the assumption that it can afford to make this concession to France in order to rehabilitate trade and obviate another war in Europe. In 1930 it may be easy, with the situation orderly, to estimate Germany's further capacity to pay. The situation should then be more peaceful, too. On the other hand, Germany should have stable government then, with good business, and will be stronger and more independent, and she may be able to gain advantages through diplomacy which she could not achieve at present.

It would be wiser and better to settle the whole question now, but Great Britain evidently believes that a concession is a worth-while expedient to restore peace and revive commerce.

TAX EXEMPT SECURITIES

Congress is trying to devise means for imposing a special tax on tax-exempt securities. At the present time $30,000,000,000 of these bonds have been issued. This is equivalent to saying that $30,000,000,000 is untaxed through discrimination. Bankers and farmers, and it is proper to say, the general public, are opposed to the exemption of any kind of income from just taxation.

It will be easy to find a legal and practical way to tax these investments. Senator Capper suggests an inheritance tax on them. Senator Smoot has conferred with prominent lawyers, who agree with him that this tax would be legal.

Injustice is not the only objectionable phase of tax-exemption of securities. These bonds, being specially attractive, absorb money which would flow into production enterprise. Tax-exemption disturbs the money market and brings about inequality in taxation. It is the general hope that congress will succeed in reaching these securities with a fair tax.

Whether this can be done or not we should have laws prohibiting the further issuance of tax-exempt securities of any kind.

STRANGE HOBBY

The world's greatest collection of fleas is presented to the British Museum, whose officials register exquisite delight. These fleas were collected by the late Nathaniel Rothschild, head of the famous London banking family. Rothschild took great pride in his fleas. He ransacked the world for them. Expense was no object. He even sent a costly expedition into the Far North to get a specimen of the flea that annoys a certain kind of Arctic seal. Strange things happen in World Vaudeville, but rarely anything stranger than this hobby of the rich banker.

Up speaks Arthur F. Samme, Englishman, calling attention to his own peculiar collection—match boxes. He has 476 different specimens, and he boasts that it took 14 years to acquire them. Samme claims, with dignity and confidence, that he is the world's greatest authority on match boxes. No doubt. In two ways, it is a striking hobby.

Man's instinct for accumulation is, in its simpler form, the quality or virtue known as thrift. Carried to extremes, to its logical conclusion, it is responsible for some people being too rich at the expense of others who remain too poor.

Many a millionaire will smile at Mr. Samme collecting match boxes or Mr. Rothschild collecting rate fleas. But the match boxes and fleas have benefited their owners about as much as excessive possession of dollars benefits the extremely rich. A queer animal, at times, is man.

In justice to Rothschild, it must be admitted that his hobby did the world a little good, since fleas spread diseases and a knowledge of them is obviously valuable. Which is more than can be said of some collections of dollars.

MINNESOTA SETS THE STANDARD

When citizens of Minnesota or visitors to the state ride out on the main highways their journeys will not go through two walls of tin, paper and wooden signs of all sorts and description. Their eyes will not see "buy this," or "buy that," or "trade with Soandso." Instead they will look upon rolling hills and smiling valleys, velvety grass and growing crops.

Minnesota passed a law which went into force on December 1 prohibiting signs along the principal arteries of travel. Last Saturday fences, posts and structures were cleared of advertisements. The only signs allowed on the main highways are bulletin boards for legal notices, and the regular road markers.

Roadside signs are a nuisance. Most of them are not read. They are so numerous and so unsightly that nobody pays any attention to them, except to take notice that they are nailed or tacked to trees, fences and posts, or pasted on walls.

The impression that most persons get is that these signs are a waste of money and effort, coupled with a feeling of resentment that their view of the country is obstructed.

Those who go touring in Minnesota will not see splashes of colored tin and wood. They will see Minnesota.

THE POLAR CONTINENT

In the center of the Polar sea there may be an undiscovered and unexplored continent of a million square miles of habitable land. Lieutenant Commander Fitzhugh Green of the United States navy reasons that this new Farnorthland does exist, and he entertains hope that the navy dirigible, Shenandoah, will find it on the transpolar flight which will take place next summer.

Lieutenant Commander Green states his case fully in the Popular Science Monthly for December. Capt. Keenan, an American whaler, sighted land a few years ago northeast of Port Larrow, at the northernmost end of Alaska. Peary sighted land approximately at the same place, to the northwest of him. The land was sighted from two directions. A Norwegian colony which settled in Greenland in the year 985 subsequently disappeared, and there is an Eskimo tradition that it migrated to a land farther north, haunted by spirits. The unknown continent Commander Green conjectures to be volcanic, and, therefore, of a temperate climate, like Iceland.

There probably is much habitable land in the Arctic circle, and it would not be a great surprise were a new continent discovered there. Lieutenant Commander Green only speculates, but he does so with reasonable cause.

TODAY'S POEM

By Berton Braloy

A MERCENARY LAY

Philosophers explain to us,
And moralists maintain to us,
That money is an evil and a curse;
Yet, when you come to think of it,
You like to hear the clink of it.
Or feel it bulging fatly in your purse.
For life is much more fair without,
Despite what preachers say,
If one just has the wherewithal
To pay.
True poverty's no crime at all,
But I won't say that I'm at all
Persuaded it's a virtue to be poor.
Pounds, dollars or napoleons—
The fairly-earned simoleans—
Are not exactly wicked, I am sure.
To have some cash to spare with all
Makes things a lot more gay;
It's good to have the wherewithal
To pay.

THE DOSE OF SLEEP

One of the theories of normal sleep is that it is brought about by the accumulation of acid waste products in the blood to a concentration sufficient to induce fatigue in the brain cells, which results finally in sufficient depression of their activity to suppress consciousness.

The constant activity of muscles during the waking hours—even though the individual sit in a chair or lie abed all the time—as well as the constant activity of the heart muscle and various glands of the body cause a gradual accumulation of acid waste products, particularly lactic acid compounds, since their oxidation and removal or destruction cannot keep pace with their production. The accumulation of lactic acid compounds in the muscles is known to be the direct cause of fatigue. If lactic acid or its sodium salt be injected into the blood it will bring on a condition of fatigue and finally a state of unconsciousness. The brain cells in activity also produce acid wastes, though in far less quantity than the muscles do. Muscular activity, whether work or play, is more effective as a sleep producer than mere brain or "nervous" activity. The normal child who plays actively needs relatively more sleep than the freak or abnormal child who does not play hard. The laborer and the athlete need relatively more sleep than the person who lives by his wits or prefers sports to games.

Another theory of sleep is due to diminished blood flow to the brain cells. By means of a glass plate in the skull physiologists have observed that the brain becomes paler during sleep; it is well known that the pulse rate slows and the blood pressure falls and the size of the limbs increase from the greater amount of blood distributed to the extremities. The circulation in the brain is not automatically controlled or regulated by vasomotor nerve control (contraction or dilation of arteries) as it is in the body generally. The brain circulation is indirectly regulated by the circulation in other parts of the body. Thus when the blood vessels in other parts of the body relax or dilate so that they hold more blood, the vessels within the skull receive less blood, because the blood is shunted elsewhere. Thus it is hard to woe sleep when your feet are cold; a stiff dose of alcohol, which flushes the surface, conduces to drowsiness, though poetically called "stimulant."

Of course we do not know certainly what the state of blood supply to the internal organs other than the brain may be during sleep, but we believe they share in the flush which is present in the vessels of the surface and the extremities. There is no doubt that it is normal and natural to sleep after a full meal, contrary to a popular fancy. And a bed time lunch helps a great many people to sleep better. Perhaps the prejudice against going to bed "on a full stomach" comes from the unwise practice of overeating or indulging in improper food and drink late at night.

As regards children let 'em sleep on a full stomach; they'll sleep right. It is a fine time to use the bed for digestion when you don't need it in your head. Remember, in normal sleep, many functions go on unaltered by the absence of consciousness. We breathe; the heart beats; digestion goes on. In one sense normal sleep is but an exaggerated after dinner doze, a big dose of doze.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Goldfishology

Are you recommending to your readers who are nervous the keeping of goldfish? What do you think of the advice recently given by an eminent specialist of Syracuse, N. Y., to the effect that people subject to nervous disorders should keep a goldfish aquarium? The specialist declared that there is a calming or sedative influence in watching the gentle, lazy, constant movements of the fish.—N. H.

Answer—I can readily imagine how soothing it might be for some people to sit and watch the goldfish, people who would be driven wild by the constant movements of a small flock of children around the place. That's the great advantage of goldfish over other household pets—they don't damage the oriental rugs or—well, you know how it is.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, December 7, 1898

Miss Cora Hatch returned from California, where she witnessed the christening of the battleship Wisconsin.

His term having expired, Judge G. T. Moeskes reappointed D. J. Brothers of Kaukauna a member of the soldiers' indigent relief commission.

The poor committee of the common council, Almeren Jadnot, Wenzel, Peterman, Pingel, Volter and Kober, inspected the new city home which was to be ready for occupancy by the middle of December.

Ferdinand Lang, who had conducted a cigar manufactory in Appleton for several years, removed to Menasha, where he was to make his permanent home.

Anon Wattengel, an employee of Wickert & Co., lost a finger by getting it caught in the machinery.

The T-Yomataw Mineral Springs and Hotel company of Kaukauna filed articles of incorporation with the register of deeds. The capital stock was $100,000 and the incorporators were D. J. Brothers, D. A. Titus and Theodore M. Kellogg.

Only three prisoners were occupying the county jail, two of whom are United States prisoners charged with selling liquor to Indians.

Manager John Throckens was installing a new furnace in the opera house.

Mrs. D. W. Barnes of Neenah was the guest of Appleton friends.

TEN YEARS AGO

Wednesday, December 3, 1913

SEEN, HEARD and IMAGINED

---that's all there is to life

ALL NATURE ELEVEN

If you are still hungry for All-American eleven, let us serve you with an All-Nature team, which in every respect is superior to the All-American football teams that may be selected. Here it is:

Berry, Lawrence
Appel, Oberlin
Wood, West Point
Brooks, Lawrence.
Pond, Yale
Rain, Carroll
Hill, Harvard
Green, Cornell
Sturup, Akron
Rudd, Lafayette
Briese, Lawrence

Substitutes: Root, Baldwin-Wallace; Deol, Lawrence; Moss, Western Reserve; Groves, Lawrence.

What do you think of that? We positively stump anyone to name a better combination. The players, as they bled forth under the gentle Rain would have the advantage of ideal training conditions. They could keep fit by romping over the Hill or mountaining through the Green Groves. A bit tired, it would be possible to sit down by one of the shady Brooks and let themselves be fanned by a cool breeze. Or they might take a swim in the Pond. After plucking a Reed, they might roam through the Wood and refresh themselves by picking a Perry or an Appel, or finding a Catalpa Root, and who could ask for a softer spot to rest than on some downy Moss?

Pettibone's are waiting for the first snowfall so a dance can be held in the new roof garden, or shall we say winter garden, judging by the Christmas tree decorations on the top of the building?

An Appleton patient after paying his doctor bill observes, "If it takes eight years and $10,000 to become a doctor, why be a plasterer and work for $20 a day?"

The melancholy days have come. The saddest of the year; With all my wool suits on the bum And winter ahead here.

After "Casey" Jensen had silenced practically the entire board last week, he tried to pick a fight with the court house reporter, Casey, you let our reporter alone, or we'll sic next year's baseball fans on you.

Tenderfoot in the Kitchen

The West End newlyweds had moved into their love nest, but had decided to move the stove to the other corner of the kitchen. The groom fumed and fussed in a fruitless effort to budge the stove. The bride rubbed her hand across her forehead and said petulantly, "How exasperating! I'm sure the man told me that a stove-lifter came with the kitchen utensils."

Perfume Maker Must Possess Chemical Skill

(From The Kansas City Post.)

The manufacture of marketable perfumes from flowers is a delicate art in which both chemical knowledge and quick natural perceptions are required.

The first process is the extraction of the essence by distillation. A large copper vessel is filled with water about two-thirds of its capacity; the flowers to be treated are then introduced and it is hermetically closed. It is then placed on a fire.

EVEN THE WATER IS SOLD

Steam is generated in the cylinder and is carried by a pipe into a second cylinder, replenished with cold water, and furnished with an overflow. The pipe in its passage through this second cylinder becomes a spiral coil. This coil ends in a cock at the bottom of the cylinder from which the volatile essence exudes drop by drop as the steam condenses in its passage through the coil. The water is itself perfumed and becomes the rose water or orange flower water of commerce. The volatile essence combined and mixed with a certain quantity of alcohol are used in the preparation and as the basis of eau de cologne, toilet vinegar, lavender water, etc.

TREATING NON-VOLATILE FLOWERS

There are two processes used for the purpose of extracting perfume from flowers which do not contain volatile essence. The first may be described as the cold process. The former is generally used for cassia, jasmine, jonquils, tuberose, violets and some other flowers. Freshly gathered flowers are placed upon a layer of pure lard one-fourth inch in thickness, spread over a sheet of glass about two feet square which is framed in wood and forms a kind of tray. These trays, sometimes 40 or 50 together, are piled upon one another, the flowers are changed every 12, 18 or 24 hours, according to circumstances, and the process continued until the lard is sufficiently charged with perfume. Jasmine and tuberose are frequently changed as often as 50 times before the lard is considered sufficiently impregnated; cassia and violets from 40 to 50 and jonquils about 20 times. The fat thus obtained can be packed in air tight tins and conveyed anywhere.

THE HOT FAT PROCESS

When the hot process is resorted to 20 kilos of grease are placed in a copper vessel, together with some five kilos of flowers; the vessel is then placed over a slow fire and the contents are well stirred. After allowing the compound to boil for 10 minutes the vessel is left to cool for some hours. An additional five kilos of flowers are then added and the process is repeated until the fat has absorbed the requisite amount of perfume. The hot liquid is then poured through a sieve and the greasy flower paste that remains is subjected to hydraulic pressure.

It is in these two ways that the pomades of trades are produced. From these pomades perfumed and alcoholized liquids are extracted by means of grain spirit and also by means of wine. These are the extracts of trade.

A. "Damp in a well" signifies gaseous conditions in the well. The two gases that are formed in a well are carbon monoxide and carbon dioxide. The former is more dangerous than the latter.

Q. Is scagliola a stone? J. L. H.

A. Scagliola is an imitation stone, consisting of a substratum of finely ground gypsum mixed with glue, variegated on its surface with soft with marble, spar or granite dust, and subsequently polished. It is used for floors, columns, and other ornamental interior work.

Q. Does a man who pays for a lock box in a post office own the box? If not what is he paying for? C. R.

A. The Post Office Department says that the rentals collected for the use of lock boxes in post offices are for services rendered in the private delivery of mail. There is no provision of law whatsoever by which a box renter may acquire legal ownership of the box which is a part of the equipment of the postoffice.

Q. Are all whales dark in color? W. V. E.

A. There are some white whales. These are found in Arctic and Antarctic regions and along the Alaskan coast. The white whale is not so large as the other types of whale.

Q. When were pears first put under cultivation? E. M.

A. While pears were probably cultivated long before mention of this fact appears in literature, the first mention we find of a pear is in the Odyssey, Book 7, where Homer describes the garden of Alcinoos "and there grow tall trees blossoming with pears and pomegranates and apple trees with bright fruit, sweet figs and olives in their bloom."

Q. Do we send as much merchandise to Japan as we receive from that country? W. G. S.

A. The Department of Commerce says that in 1922 our exports to Japan were valued at $218,510,000 while we imported products to the value of $354,288,000.

Q. What were the casualties and what was the fate of the "Light Brigade"? E. V. D. W.

A. The order for the charge read as follows: "Lord Raglan wishes the cavalry to advance rapidly to the front and to try to prevent the enemy carrying away the guns. French cavalry is on your left." The Light Brigade advanced straight to its front and soon came under fire from the guns on both flanks. Five minutes later the guns in front got in their fire. Only two formed bodies of the Light Brigade found their way back. The Brigade lost 217 men and 497 horses out of a total strength of 673 engaged in the charge which, from first to last, occupied 20 minutes.

Q. Where was the Virginia home of Major Robert Chamberlyne? F. A. R.

A. The home of Major Robert Chamberlyne, who was the host of Mrs. Curtis on the occasion of her first meeting with George Washington, was situated in New Kent County near the present site of the Pamunkey River Ferry. The house is no longer standing.

BUTCHERING IS BIGGEST INDUSTRY ON FARMS NOW

The population of rural communities is being considerably decreased these days. This news would not have leaked out but for the fact some of the victims have been doing a little "squealing." What makes it worse is the fact that it is happening just after completion of the annual census. This refers to the yearly pig survey taken by the rural mail carriers in behalf of the United States department of agriculture. This is butchering time for a good many farmers who intend to lay in a supply of meat for the approaching holidays. Sausage making forms an important "link" of this occupation.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Estey, who have been spending several days with relatives here, have returned by automobile to their home at East St. Louis, Ill., where Mr. Estey is superintendent of Fruin-Colnon Construction Co. LAY IN SUPPLY OF POSTAGE STAMPS. ZUEHLKE ADVISES

Postmaster Suggests Way Of Relieving Crowding At Postal Windows

In his annual request to the mailing public that it "Do its Christmas mailing early," Postmaster William H. Zuehlke makes a suggestion that will save the mailers considerable time and annoyance. It is the early purchase of postage stamps.

Mr. Zuehlke in an analysis of Christmas postal business finds that one out of every three persons crowding up to the service windows wants to buy stamps, and it is usually stamps for holiday post cards.

A short cut to the head of the long mailing line that is such a vexation to the busy person in the week before Christmas, is to buy a big supply of one and two-cent stamps at this time. They can be attached to the Christmas post cards and letters and then mailed when it is convenient. This will help to thin the crowding at the service windows down to the patrons who have parcels to be weighed and insured.

GET HALF HOLIDAY

Mr. Zuehlke has received an order from Washington headquarters that for the first time practically in his history will allow postoffice employees to sit down at their home table and eat their Christmas meal in peace. The order states that all carriers shall stop work promptly at 12 o'clock, regardless of whether all mail has been delivered. That means that some homes had better not rely on a Christmas delivery. This is the first step in the department's attempt to give postal employees an all-day holiday on Christmas, the same as enjoyed by nearly all employees in the civilized world. This can be brought about through the cooperation of the mailing public. The new order is another reason for mailing parcels and cards early enough so that they can be delivered in other localities before Christmas noon.

Smoke Nuisance Found Only Where Firing Is Not Done In Correct Way

Capitol Engineer At Madison Gives Suggestions By Which Soft Coal May Be Burned With Cleanliness And Economy

Less legislation and more advice would remedy the smoke nuisance, about which so much is heard in Appleton, it was said in an interview given out recently by John C. White, chief engineer of the power plant at the capitol at Madison.

Mr. White declares that "the emission of objectionable quantities of black smoke and soot is not a necessary attribute to the burning of soft coal." Smoke, he says, is due to the rapid distillation of the volatile matter in coal, the gaseous portion of fuel, and its escape only partially burned. He points to the waste that results from this loss of heat-giving elements of fuel.

Proper firing will overcome most of the smoke nuisance and will mean a considerable saving in fuel each winter, according to the engineer. Here are the suggestions he offers for correct firing:

SMOKELESS COMBUSTION

The following conditions must be met and maintained in the burning of soft coals of the smoke is to be reduced to a satisfactory point.

a. Slow heating of the fresh fuel and consequent slow distillation or driving off of the gases.

b. An incandescent bed or zone over or through which the liberated gases must pass or with which they are brought in contact to raise them to ignition temperature.

c. Sufficient air and its proper mixture or contact with the gases to insure complete combustion.

d. Manipulation of the fire in such manner that the above requirements are met before the gases come in contact with the relatively cold heating surfaces of the boiler.

If the four requirements set forth above are fully met there will be no smoke, and the degree of smoke produced will be an exact indication of the firing methods.

VIOLATION OF REQUIREMENTS

The rules for smokeless firing are almost universally violated by common practice and the result is objectionable smoke which often constitutes a nuisance to the neighbors and a waste of fuel, which is a direct loss to the owner. A description of the ordinary method of firing may be of interest. Assume a small cast iron sectional house-heating boiler with a plain shaking grate. The fire has burned down and needs attention. The attendant proceeds to shake the grate and level off the fire. This gives him full credit so he covers the entire bed with an even depth of from four inches to six inches of coal. This violates requirement "a" in that it exposes the entire charge of fresh fuel to the direct heat of the fire over which it is spread and causes the most rapid distillation of gas possible. It violates requirement "b" in that it entirely blankets the incandescent bed of fuel and cools the furnace below the ignition temperature of the gases being thrown off. It makes requirement "c" impossible of attainment because the sufficient supply of air and its proper mixture with the combustible cannot be secured. Requirement "d" is, by above method, reversed and the gases are brought in contact with the relatively cold heating surfaces of the boiler before they are ignited and completely burned. The result must be dense black smoke and a tarry soot that distributes itself over the surroundings and is difficult to remove.

WHAT TO DO

Starting with the same equipment and furnace conditions as in the previous case, put the fire in order by shaking the grate and removing clinkers if any, then, instead of leveling the fire, push it to one side of the fire pot if a round one, or toward the rear if rectangular, and charge the fresh fuel just inside the door and on the bare grate if possible. This will expose only a small part of the fresh fuel to the distilling temperature of the hot coals, leave a part of the latter uncovered to maintain ignition temperature in the furnace and ignite the gases, and reduce the rate at which the gases are driven off to a point where sufficient air for burning them can be supplied and mixed with them and their complete combustion be effected before they come in direct contact with the cold boiler surfaces.

The small register in the door over the fire should never be closed when burning soft coal in a plain furnace. Its purpose is to admit the air necessary to burn the gases. If the above method is used the result will be a greatly reduced smoke output and a greatly increased heat input. Try it, carefully at first, and as experience is gained it will be found easy and there will be relief from that guilty feeling when the neighbor talks in her weekly wash. This method is applicable to steam or hot water boilers or to hot air furnaces.

ABSENTMINDED MAN IS LIKE IMBECILE

New York — Detailed photographic studies of the motions of human beings, made possible through the invention of an apparatus called the scale cage, have led to the conclusion that absent minded persons temporarily indulge in behavior similar to the motion behavior of imbeciles, according to the Engineering Foundation of this city. The foundation says also that great waste results, in some manual occupations, from ill-directed motion.

Many persons occasionally are absent minded and, while their minds are wool gathering, the motions of their bodies, as recorded by photography, are strikingly similar to those of the weak-minded and sub-normal.

Bricklayers of ordinary training have used the same methods probably for 7,000 years. The berry picker, the most ancient of craftsmen, has followed simple and natural methods for thousands of years. Studies of these workers give no indication that the best way to work is a matter of instinct, or is developed through successive generations by natural processes.

By finding out the best way, as demonstrated by the most expert worker, the bricklayer can be trained to do more than three times as much work with the same effort. The amateur berry picker, most highly educated in everything except berry picking and motion study, may be so trained as to increase his output fifteen fold.

WOMAN SEVERELY BURNED WHEN APRON CATCHES FIRE

Marquette—Mary Thomas, 70, is in a critical condition in Menominee hospital as a result of burns when an apron she wore caught fire as she was working about the cook stove. She was unable to extinguish the flames and her cries brought her niece, Ella Despins, to her aid. She was burned badly about the face and head before the flames were extinguished.

The First Application Makes Skin Cool and Comfortable

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you may quickly be rid of it by using Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of fiery eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Rowles Mentho-Sulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.

LITERARY SOCIETY GIVES PROGRAM

Children Of River Dale School Present Exercises At Box Social

Special to Post-Crescent

Bear Creek—The literary society of River Dale school, Bear Creek, route 1, presented a program in connection with the box social at the schoolhouse last week. Miss Hazel Bollman is the teacher.

Angarose Wilfuh, president of the society, was in charge of the exercises and Richard McCone acted as secretary. Margaret McCone, vice president, opened the program with a talk on the purpose of organizing the literary society.

Arnold Schulte read a paper on "How Thanksgiving Day became a National Holiday." An exercise, "What Little Boys and Girls are Thankful For," was given by Martin McGinn, Florence Wilfuh, Ernest Schinke and Vera Sieber.

"Baby's Part," a recitation was given by Ella Wilfuh and a spelling exercise by Deanna Sieber. Derrine McCone recited "My Shadow." An exercise, "T-Stands for so Much," was given by Vera Sieber, Florence Wilfuh, Kathryn McCone, Violet Krauss, Lester McGinn, Deanna Sieber, David McCone, Ella Wilfuh, Ivan McGinn, Alvin Schulte, Kermit Sieber and Derrine McCone. All pupils then joined in singing "Thanksgiving Day Has Come."

The other exercises included: "Thanksgiving Fun," Violet Krauss; "An Appreche," Donald McCone; "Thanksgiving Proclamation," Lawrence McCone; "Thanksgiving Day on the Farm," Martin McGinn as Farmer Brown, Angarose Wilfuh as Mrs. Brown, Richard and Kathryn McCone as Reuben and May the children, Margaret McCone as Aunt Sally, Ernest Schinke as Tom, her son.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists call it "Joint-Ease" because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and stays right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some long-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

Voigt Drug Co. and all druggists dispense it daily for about 69 cents a tube, as do first class druggists everywhere.

DANCING PARTY HELD AT WEYENBERG HOME

Special to Post-Crescent

Oneida—A party of friends gathered at the home of Peter Weyenberg Friday evening of last week and spent the evening in dancing to the music of George Glouceman's orchestra of Appleton. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Van Den Berg. Seymour; Miss Winifred Cripps; Kaukauna; Mr. and Mrs. Jake School, Mr. and Mrs. Martin School, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Romensko, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ouden Hoven, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newhouse, Kaukauna; Mr. and Mrs. Anton Newhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Houli, Mr. and Mrs. J. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. John Vandenberg and sons John, Jr. and Melvin, Miss Iva Norwood, Arthur Sicks, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Skenader, John De Volk, Miss Ella De Volk, Miss Alberta Cornelius, Eastman and Fred Cornelius, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cornelius and Miss Bertha Adams.

Mrs. Frank Appleton was operated upon for appendicitis at St. Elizabeth hospital in Appleton.

During the county board sessions last week $10,600 was voted for work on the Oneida roads.

A. S. Vose felt very thankful on Thanksgiving day because the thieves that stole his geese left one for his dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Mann of De Pere, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cornelius spent Thanksgiving at the home of A. S. Vose.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Adams entertained Chief William K. Cornelius of Muncy, Ont., Canada and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cornelius and Arthur Sicks at a 6-o'clock dinner Friday evening of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cornelius announced the birth of a son Saturday. Three cars were seen in the ditch during the icy weather on Friday of last week, one near the county line, another near the Episcopal church, while a third that tipped over was near the stock farm.

WAUKESHA SLAYERS GET 10 YEAR TERMS

Waukesha—Changing their pleas to not guilty to the first degree murder charge pending against them to pleas of guilty to first degree manslaughter, Paolo Glatz and Jim Orlando were sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary at Waupun, Wis., by Judge C. M. Davidson.

The men were accused of the murder last April of Leo Grasso, who recently had come to Waukesha and who they contended was plotting their death. Grasso was shot and stabbed six times in the head.

Judge Davidson specified that one day of each year of the ten they were sentenced to serve, January 15, be spent in solitary confinement.

M'GILLAN POINTS OUT WAYS TO CUT INSURANCE RATES

Removal Of Fire Traps Reflects In Lower Cost Of Protection, Chief Says

If Appleton wishes to retain or improve its fire insurance rating, something more is expected beyond maintaining the efficiency of the water works plant, the fire department and its men and equipment, according to Chief G. P. McGillan of the fire department. Appleton is rated in class 2½, which compares very favorably with other Wisconsin cities. Whether that basis rate is favorable or not depends upon the municipality and its attitude on fire protection. But beyond this each individual insurer is largely responsible personally for the rate of insurance he pays on his property.

To impress upon residents this truth, Chief McGillan quotes the following from a letter of the state industrial commission:

Every fire hazard the individual insurer harbors and tolerates within his building and every exposure from without adds to the basis rate. If the individual is complacently satisfied with unsafe conditions within his building, with defective electric wiring, poorly installed heating plants, defective chimneys, poor shingle roofs and other common hazards, he must pay for his neglect by increased rates.

REMOVE FIRE TRAPS
"He can use his influence to have fire traps near him condemned. With the help of the fire department he can get the careless neighbor to clean up his yard and alleys and so remove fire breeders and spreaders."

Business men may protect themselves against exorbitant rates by installing wire-glass windows in metal sash and frames, fire shutters, fire doors and fire resisting roof covering in place of wooden shingles. It is pointed out. He can equip his place with first aid fire extinguishing equipment. All such improvements are reflected in a more favorable rate of insurance. The concession in rates for an approved sprinkler system will in a few years pay for the installation.

American insurance rates are high, much higher than in Europe, but appreciable reductions in rate can only come with a decrease in fire losses and fire hazards. It is pointed out.

Y.M.C.A. Gets Signed Picture Of Mr. Wilson

J. E. Dennison, boys work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., received an autographed photograph 12 by 8 inches in size of Woodrow Wilson, former president of the United States. He is starting an educational center in the boys department and the picture of Mr. Wilson will be placed in it. It will be hung on the wall with appropriate ceremonies. Mr. Dennison has written to several other prominent men for their photographs and expects to have a collection of nearly a dozen.

Mr. Wilson's photograph was forwarded by John Randolph Bellina, Mr. Wilson's secretary, who said in a letter that accompanied it:

"Mr. Wilson asked me to say that it gives him a great deal of pleasure to send the enclosed autographed photograph to be placed in the collection of which you told him in your letter of Nov. 24."

B. & L. PROMOTER GIVING ADDRESS

George H. Beckley Will Hear Talk By James Devine At Milwaukee

George H. Beckley, secretary of Appleton Building and Loan association, will attend a special meeting at the Republican house, Milwaukee, on Tuesday, Dec. 11, of the Wisconsin League of Building and Loan associations.

James Devine, president of the Ohio league, is to be the speaker. The Wisconsin secretaries are desirous of learning how Mr. Devine built the Ohio total of associations from $75 to $144 in one year, and Mr. Beckley will take advantage of the opportunity to learn ways of enlarging the Appleton organization.

Under Mr. Devine's leadership the number of members in Ohio building and loan associations grew in 1922 from 1,200,000 to 1,550,000 and the assets from $561,000,000 to $550,000,000, representing an increase of $50,000,000.

A recent article in Review of Reviews describes growth of building and loan associations and calls attention to the laws of Wisconsin and New York as being the best and most strict, and forming an example for other states. In both states associations are regulated by the banking departments.

KENTUCKIANS! YOU ARE WANTED AT HOME IN JUNE

Are you from Kentucky? The mayor of Louisville is looking for you to ask whether you are planning to go back home for Kentucky's 1924 Homecoming. The mayor, Huston Quin, is the general manager of the homecoming event. Blinding Lights Blamed For Severe Injuries To Medina Man

John Ruppel of Medina is confined to his home as the result of a broken leg and a severe scalp wound which he suffered when he was struck by an automobile driven by Richard Manning of Neenah at about 5:30 Tuesday evening.

It was just about dusk when Mr. Ruppel was returning home from a swamp where he had been working. As he reached the Robert Riesberry cheese factory he saw a car approaching in front of him and another at the rear. To avoid both cars, he stepped off the concrete pavement.

But as the light of the front car blinded Manning, who was driving the car from behind, he edged considerably to one side. The lights also prevented him from discerning the pedestrian and he struck him. Wilbur Zimmerman of Greenville conveyed Ruppel to his home in Medina. A physician was called to attend the injured man. It was necessary to take eleven stitches to close the scalp wound.

Janesville—A hunting trip near his home 4 1/2 miles south of Darlington, Green-co, proved fatal to W. F. McGowan, 35, a farmer, and his six-year-old daughter, Josephine, Tuesday afternoon. In crawling through a fence it is believed the man's shotgun accidentally discharged killing his daughter instantly. Crazed by the accident it is thought McGowan then turned the gun on himself as he was found dead with a wound through his heart. His wife and two small girls survive.

Mason Emblem Ends 18-Year Trip Tonight

By Associated Press
New York—Completing an 18-year journey to every masonic lodge in the United States, Canada and Mexico, a silver trowel, the masonic emblem of friendship, Wednesday night found its way back to the Home of Justice lodge number 753, in Manhattan.

After resting briefly on the grave of Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, the emblem will continue its journey visiting every masonic lodge room in the civilized world.

CHARGE RAIDERS DROVE CHILDREN OUT OF SICK-BED

Harry Stroeb Threatens Suit Against Prohibition Officers Who Raided Home

Harry Stroeb has threatened to start legal action against federal prohibition agents and county authorities of Winnebago-co, who raided his home in their search for moonshine last Saturday. The ground of action is the conduct of the officers which is said to have affected two children who are ill with bronchial pneumonia.

Stroeb's attorney states that five officers forced an entrance at the Stroeb home on Stroeb's island at about 3:30 Saturday afternoon while Mrs. Stroeb was home with three children. The officers are said to have left the doors wide open while they ransacked the entire house. It was raining and the damp air filled the house. The children confined to their beds with bronchial pneumonia were forced to get out of bed so the officers might search the bed clothes for illicit liquor.

After a search of three quarters of an hour, the officers left without finding any liquor, but leaving the children in a worse state of health than they had been before, it is said.

ADVERTISES HUBBY AS SLAVE FOR SALE

Haverhill, Mass.—There's a slave for sale here. He is white, six feet tall, and able-bodied. His wife is putting him up on the auction block. Any fair price will take him.

Adella Oocin is the name of the slave; Mrs. Annie Stella Oocin the name of his wife. He worked in a shoe factory for 35 years; she works in a box factory.

But the going became hard. They looked for a way out. Mrs. Oocin believes she has found it—by putting her husband up for sale.

"This slave without a master," she says, "is willing to work at anything a man of middle age is able to do. He is intelligent and he is fairly well educated. His character is above reproach."

"If anybody wants a slave of this type, it is a chance to obtain a bargain."

So she's advertising her "Slave for Sale."

But so far there have been no bidders. There seems to be little call for slaves.

"This is an era of advertising," she says. "I want to get a decent job for my husband because he is self-respecting and does not want to be supported by my small earnings. I want to show that I am capable of better things than laboring in a box factory. And I want to show up the present evil of industrial slavery."

"What I mean the ad to convey is the fact that the industrial worker today, particularly the unskilled man, is a more unfortunate slave than his black brother of a generation ago. There was at least a paternalistic care of the slave of the south. Today an industrial slave who has had misfortune, serious illness such as we have had, is likely to find himself 'laid off' and unable to obtain employment with very little money to tide him over."

"Although we are not actually in want now our condition will be serious before the winter is through unless we can increase our income."

Mrs. Oocin now is earning from $20 to $24 a week at piece work in the box factory. The rent of their small apartment is $5.50 a week but prospects of expensive coal are not encouraging.

The husband has been in the shoe industry most of his life. His last work being packing. He earned from $20 to $30 a week at this but says that girls have almost entirely replaced men.

"I'm a good object lesson for young men," says Oocin. "I left school when I was 14 to earn 25 cents a day in a shipping room. I made a fatal mistake when I did not get all the education possible and another serious blunder when I failed to learn a trade. The good wages are in the production end, not in the routine and white collar jobs."

"I am not whining but I do think there is something wrong with an industrial system wherein a man can work 35 years or more and be unable to lay up more than a few months' living."

Mr. and Mrs. M. Gainer of Mackville, have received a box of oranges from Mr. and Mrs. M. Gregorius, Silver Hill, Ala. The fruit is a product of Mr. and Mrs. Gregorius's own fruit trees.

Dr. J. J. Laird and family of Black Creek, visited relatives here Tuesday.

N. C. Gintz has been confined to his home for the last week by illness.

AUTOIST WEEPS AND SCOLDS WHEN NEW CAR IS DAMAGED IN CRASH

"Don't cry over spilled milk," may be a wise proverb, but its value was lost on a young Grand Chute farmer boy who saw his new automobile damaged on the Mackville road Sunday evening.

He actually wept. Tears flowed profusely and sobs choked him as he invoked wrath upon the young driver who was responsible for the collision.

"I put my last dollar in that automobile and now look what you went and done," he cried. The other young man, being the escort of a girl, could not afford to weep, but he admitted his fault and promised to pay the damages, although his own car was the only one that was very much damaged.

George Griesbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Griesbach, submitted to an operation at St. Elizabeth hospital Wednesday.

2 APPLETON YOUTHS ON DEBATE SQUAD

Harry Hoefel and Alden Behnke, former Appleton high school students, were chosen as members of the Lawrence college debate teams at the try-outs on Tuesday. One other freshman, Gordon Clark, Ellsworth, was chosen for the teams.

Dan Hardt and William Henoch, members of last year's teams, were elected to the squad as well as Winfred Bird, River Falls; Chester Sefton, Oshkosh; and George Skewes, Racine. The six best debaters from these will be chosen for the regular teams and the others will be used as alternates. Only two debates have been scheduled this year, a triangle with Ripon and Carroll and another with Albion and Illinois Wesleyan.

CHRISTMAS TESTS YOUR GOOD TASTE

CHRISTMAS for many of us tests our good tastes and our sound judgment. Shows our thoughtfulness of others and our appreciation of their needs. We have all started out with the best of intentions and resolved to find just the right thing, but all too soon losing patience—buy just anything. Something that is forgotten and unused in 100 soon a time. An Electrical gift is bound to satisfy, can and will be used the entire year, and not one among us can really say, "I cannot use another electrical, labor saving device."

Mother's Gift

is oft times a perplexing problem. When asked what she would like, a smile will greet you together with the explanation that she has everything. But has she?

One thing she never has is leisure enough, you may be sure. And electrical devices will assist in giving her some of that leisure. Whether she is the mother of a large family of small children or the mother of a large family of grown up children the accompanying list will supply a suggestion for a perfect gift for Mother:

Flatiron	Disk Stove
Electric Grill	Ironer
Washer	Percolator
Range	Vibrator
Vacuum Cleaner	Fan
Waffle Iron	Lamps—Portable and Floor
Milk Warmer	Intercommunicating Telephone
Hot Plate	Lighting Fixtures, for the entire home or for the individual room
Combination Grill	Bath Room Heater
Sewing Machine Lamp	Christmas Tree Lights
Toaster

Dad's Gift

Dad usually has lots of fun on Christmas, getting something nice for some one else and watching them enjoy the gifts. Of course he has the usual run of fancy ties and socks with now and then cigars (the kind he doesn't smoke) but why not number him among those who is going to receive a practical electric gift. Any one in the list below, will please him.

Radio Set	Fan
Desk Lamp	Electric Motor
Floor Lamp	Electric Soldering Iron
Shaving Water Heater	Flash Light
Radio Loudspeaker	Warming Pad
Radio Battery Charger	Radio Head Phone
Furnace Control	Adjustable Floor Lamp

Sister's Gift

Sister has the faculty of acquiring a mighty fine assortment of mighty useful and pretty things, but whether she is away at school or at home she surely wants and will use with a great deal of satisfaction and pleasure any one of the following:

Chafing Dish	Marcel Waver
Hair Drier	Boudoir Lamps
Heating Pad	Desh and Table Lamps
Vibrator	Toaster
Flashlight	Radio Set
Curling Iron	Travelers Flatiron

Children's Gifts

Electricity always holds a great deal of pleasure for the small boy and girl. And things electrical are a source of joy to the young hearts.

Give them:

Toy Electric Range	Radio Sets
Electric Engine	Flashlight
Electric Bells	Small Flatiron
	Small Motors

At this time of the year we feel like doing something a bit out of the ordinary.

Something around home that is going to make living more pleasant and agreeable. Why not in the next few days, have That door bell repaired or a new one added.

A ventilating fan installed in the kitchen.

An extra socket put in that dark closet.

A new fixture for the living room and better light in the kitchen and bath room.

Candle brackets over the fireplace.

A supply of Westinghouse Mazda Lamps and Trico fuse plugs on hand.

A convenience outlet put in for that floor lamp.

The missing and broken Electric fixture shades replaced.

Yours for an Electrical Christmas,

Langstadt-Meyer Co.

"EVERYTHING ELECTRICAL BUT LIGHTNING"

CONVICT AT LARGE FIVE YEAR'S GLAD TO RETURN TO CELL

Freedom Wasn't Worth What It Cost In Anguish Of Possible Capture

Scranton, Pa. — "It wasn't worth it."

Dominick DePina, who for five years kept the electric chair waiting while police scoured the United States and Canada for him, said today a little pine table and two imaginary circles on it with long thin fingers.

For Dominick is back in the Lackawanna county jail again and his spectacular escape of five years ago, wherein he battered one guard over the head, held two others at bay and staged a running gun fight with a fourth, is in small danger of being repeated.

Besides—
"It wasn't worth it," says Dominick. And thus does this wily Italian, with the beautiful hands we saw away the five years which he wasted from life.

Life as sweet on that morning of February 4, 1918, when the last guard crumpled up with a gunshot in the arm and Dominick burst out of prison doors.

NEW STRUGGLE BEGINS
And then began a struggle of a different kind. It was a bitter, cold day and Dominick, in his thin prison shirt and trousers, was freezing. A mile and a half away from the jail he gathered courage to knock on a door.

"Please, missus," he called. "I am freezing."

"Go away, you big bum," said the woman.

A quarter of a mile further Dominick tried again. This time he had better luck for though the woman was suspicious she gave him a ragged coat.

And now the police were searching the roads. Dominick lay down in the snow behind hedges and shivered until the police had gone by.

MUCH SHIVERING
By hopping freight trains and doing an occasional day's labor Dominick worked his way into Canada. The stations and the fences were all full of the pictures of one Dominick DePina, who had escaped from prison and for whose return $1000 would be paid.

Dominick put peroxide on his hair and eyebrows and stuffed out his lips with cotton.

"One thousand dollars. Why don't you try to get that money?" said a passerby to Dominick one day. Dominick laughed, but he shivered.

Little by little Dominick worked his way west to Vancouver. Sometimes he had jobs and then he hid in the theatres and concert halls. As much as possible he tried to keep in with the police so he would know when they were looking for him.

Once he slipped out of a side door just as the police were knocking at the front.

No matter where he turned, no matter where he went there was always the fear of a heavy hand being laid on his shoulder.

Once, years ago, there had been a girl, Eliza, that Dominick was building a home for. But the home had burned down and Eliza married somebody with better luck.

Now, comparatively safe in Canada, Dominick's thoughts turned again to home and children.

"But that wasn't right," he says. "How could I bring my unhappiness to someone else?"

Then, a few weeks ago, in Nelson, British Columbia, someone thought to ask Dominick how he happened to get into Canada. Dominick couldn't produce the necessary papers and they threw him in jail. The alternative was a fine of $150.

World Tribunal Points Way To Universal Peace, Speaker Tells Rotarians

John K. Kline, Editor Of Post-Crescent, Explains History And Functions Of International Court

John K. Kline, editor of the Post-Crescent, was the speaker at the Rotary luncheon at Conway hotel Tuesday noon. His subject was "The Permanent Court of International Justice."

After drawing a distinction between the terms arbitration and adjudication he called attention to the first peace conference called by the League of Nations in 1918 which finally led to the establishment of the permanent court of international justice in 1920.

He told of the organization of the court, its purpose, and said that while its members are elected by the League of Nations it is an independent judicial body.

"I wish at the outset to draw a distinction between the terms 'arbitration' and 'adjudication' as they relate to the determination of issues as they arise between individuals, states and nations," Mr. Kline said.

"Inasmuch as there is an intimate relationship, historically, between the development of arbitration and the establishment of the existing court of international justice, I desire to make this distinction clear."

"Arbitration is employed in the determination of matters in dispute by the decision of arbitrators, whose decision may not be binding until it is confirmed by a higher authority or assented to by the parties."

"In arbitration there is a partisan representative of each contending side and an odd arbiter selected by the two. The number of arbitrators may be greater, but the character of composition is always the same."

"Adjudication means the determination of matters in dispute by the decision of a competent court. It is the method of adjustment and justice used in our justice courts, in our supreme courts, in our federal and our supreme courts. It means the rendition of a judgment in accordance with fixed laws or principles of law and the facts presented."

"The permanent court of international justice," Mr. Kline said, "was established Dec. 15, 1920, under the authority of Article 16 of the covenant of the League of Nations."

"From the latest information I have 45 nations have signed the court protocol. The nations which have signed include all of the great powers with the exception of Russia, Germany and the United States."

"There is an optional clause to the protocol of signature which provides for the acceptance of compulsory jurisdiction. This is an important feature of the court to which I will allude later."

"Of the nations which have signed the protocol, 25 have accepted compulsory jurisdiction. None of the great powers, that is, Great Britain, France, Italy or Japan, has agreed to compulsory jurisdiction. The seat of the court is at The Hague."

"I shall give a brief summary of the statute setting up the court which consists of 15 members 11 judges and 4 deputy judges."

"Article II. I will quote in full. It reads: 'The permanent court of international justice shall be composed of a body of independent judges, elected regardless of their nationality from among persons of high moral character, who possess the qualifications required in their respective countries for appointment to the highest judicial offices, or are jurisconsults of recognized competence in international law.'"

"The method of election is as follows: 'Nominations of candidates are prepared by the national groups in the Hague court of arbitration. Nations which are not members of this court may submit lists of candidates. From this mass of nominations the election is conducted by the assembly and council of the League of Nations voting independently.'

"A candidate to be elected must receive an absolute majority of votes in both the assembly and council of the League of Nations. In the event of more than one national of the same member, or nation, being elected, the eldest of these only shall be considered elected."

"Members of the court are elected for nine years and may be re-elected. A quorum of nine judges is sufficient to constitute the court. The expenses of the court are borne by the League of Nations."

"The court is open to all states, whether members of the League of Nations or not as well as to the states which have not signed the court protocol. In other words, the United States, although not a member of the League or a signer of the protocol, may at the present time try a case in this court."

"The judgments of the court are final and without appeal. Disputing minority opinions are permitted. No means are provided for enforcing the judgments of the court."

"To sum up we find that the court, although its members are elected by the machinery of the League of Nations, is an independent judicial body. It is exactly the same as if it were elected by nations not organized into a league. Its findings and judgments are subject to review by the League of Nations."

"This is the permanent court of international justice to which the late President Harding asked the United States, through its senate, to give assent."

"Mr. Kline believes the court should have compulsory jurisdiction and I think that Mr. Hughes complies with him. Mr. Hughes is against acceptance of the optional clause for compulsory jurisdiction, and the senate, so recommended to the senate. This Mr. Hughes frankly stated, as chief part of the nations which were willing to accept it, Mr. Kline said.

"The court is exactly the same as if it had originated from any other source or from a conference of the nations interested. It is an establishment separate from the League," Mr. Kline declared. "The plan or constitution was drafted by an independent body. The court was created by an independent organic act. It has a distinct legal status."

"The League has no voice in the administration of the court, and no control over or review of its decisions. The only relation that now exists between the court and the League is that the council and assembly of the League serve as an electoral agency for supplying vacancies of the bench."

"In performing this function the council and assembly do not act as members of the League, which is composed only of states, but they sit as individuals."

"As a matter of fact, the method of electing judges afforded by this machinery is the one thing that made the world court possible. The stumbling block to the setting up of such a court on previous occasions was, as I have said, inability to agree upon a method of selecting judges."

"On what better basis and by what better methods could a world court be established? Is there any other way to secure a court? We have seen that the traditional policy of the United States is for the creation of a world court of justice."

"For the last quarter of a century we have been actively engaged, as a government, in seeking to bring it about. We were both directly and indirectly responsible for the initiation of the court that has been created."

"What possible excuse can we offer to the world for our failure or refusal to give support to this notable contribution for the furtherance of law, order, justice and good will among nations?"

"How is war to be outlawed unless nations, including the United States, avail themselves of the instrumentalities of justice for the impartial decision, in accordance with law and the fair interpretation of treaties, of the disputes that must invariably arise and that too often, if not so determined, are contributing causes of strained relations and finally of war?"

"The court can be made of incalculable value to the world. It is one of the great world needs. It is not perfect, but in time it can be perfect. In time compulsory jurisdiction will be accepted."

"I am firmly convinced that adjudication of differences between nations in accordance with fixed principles of international law, and in accordance with justice, is more potent means for bringing peace to the world than coercive measures which attempt to arbitrarily banish war."

"The way is now open to a start in this direction. With the support of this court, its use and influence will steadily grow, and in time it should fulfill the hopes of those who believe that if right prevails war will diminish and eventually disappear."

Y. W. C. A. Leader Says Young Women Can't Earn Enough In Large Places

New York — Wait a minute, think twice, young lady, or even three times, before you finish packing the suitcase and hatbag and start for New York to make your way in the business world.

Things aren't what they used to be in the Big Town.

Girls who turn their backs on Main Street, leave the home cooking and fresh-laid eggs to the folks back home and establish themselves in a full bedroom without cooking privileges in New York have a rude awakening before them when they learn they have yet to achieve that crowning glory of the modern young woman—economic independence.

"Girls in New York who do not get beyond a $1500 or $1800 salary are fairly certain to become economic burdens to their friends and relatives in time," says Olive Van Horn, director of the industrial department of the National Y. W. C. A.

"I am speaking," she goes on, "of the woman in business rather than of those in industry, where social demands on the matter of clothes and living are less exciting."

COSTLY DEMANDS

"There are two good reasons why New York women on small salaries find it impossible to save. First, the cost of food, and second that of shelter. These two items nearly exhaust her budget if she is in the $1500 group."

"The budgets for working women put out by the federal reserve board and various minimum wage commissions cannot be applied to New York, Miss Van Horn believes.

"You cannot rent the smallest room that is anywhere adequate for less than $10 a week," she continues. "In Brooklyn she may find one for eight or nine dollars, but usually that necessitates a longer and more exhaustive ride to and from work. This means that with her food, which she cannot bring down to less than $10 or $11 a week, she is paying out nearly $1100 for living alone."

"With so much spent for food and rent, $270, the usual 18 per cent allowed in budgets for clothes, a sum which obviously cannot meet her placements in a wardrobe at present prices over a period of several years, and $20 or six per cent for upkeep, which must take care of laundry, pressing, shoe shines and general wear and tear, the girl on the $1500 salary has just $60 left for transportation, vacation, amusement, dentist, charities, Christmas gifts, and the other perquisites of civilized life."

NOTHING TO SAVE

"What can she possibly put toward a savings account?"

"This is a challenge to our proud boast of independence. It is a situation that should honestly be faced by business women today."

"Are we, the majority of us, paying our way, or are we after all, in our way, or are we after all, more of an economic liability than an asset? How did this situation come about and how can it be met, are questions that demand an immediate answer from those who have the welfare of the business woman at heart."

Any girl coming to New York to work, should at least know the situation before she comes, Miss Van Horn concludes.

FASHION HINTS

BEADS IMPORTANT

Beads, combined with tinsel and thread silk embroidery, are indispensable factors in fashionable decoration.

WHITE CAPES

White capes are frequently made more effective by the use of heavy black applique figures in velvet or even fur.

CHINA AND SPAIN

A very stunning evening wrap consists of a shawl of Chinese blue velvet with large Spanish designs hand-painted on its surface and very wide fringe on the border.

POPLIN POPULAR

Poplin is a favored material for dresses and three-piece suits. Usually there is a lining of bright color, or some relief in the way of embroidery or braiding.

TECHNICAL EXPERT WILL TEACH HAITIAN FARMERS

By Associated Press
Port-Au-Prince, Haiti—Dr. George F. Freeman, recently of the staff of the Texas Agricultural College and Experiment Station, has begun the formation of a technical bureau here, under the Department of Agriculture, to further the economic development of the land.

Dr. Freeman's mission is not only the vocational instruction, but also the professional education of the Haitian people along agricultural development lines.

Both the Haitian people and the foreign colonies regard the addition of this agricultural expert to the corps of American experts in the island as a significant contribution to Haiti's growing commercial activities.

AMBASSADOR FOX TROT

MOVEMENT Contains Syncopated Waltz Step Done to Fox Trot Music and Is Appreciated By Those Who Are Admirers Of Beauty in Dancing

BY ARTHUR MURRAY
Director, National Institute of Social Dancing

The Ambassador fox trot was so named because it is the dance most popular at this fashionable hotel, where New York's best dancers gather at tea time to introduce the latest steps.

See how easily you can learn it. This movement contains a syncopated waltz step done to fox trot music. It is extremely popular with good dancers who appreciate the beauty of doing waltz steps to fox trot music.

1. Begin with left foot and take a long slow step straight forward.

2. Step on right foot forward, diagonally to right, as in illustration.

3. Draw left foot up to right, weight on left. These three steps complete one forward waltz movement.

4. Step directly backward on the right foot. Repeat the entire step of four counts.

Note that in the illustration the numbers 1 and 4 are dark. This is to indicate that they are slow steps; each step is given a full count. Numbers 2 and 3 are given quick steps.

LADY'S PART

Learn the man's part before studying your own.

1. Begin with the right foot and take a long slow step backward.

2. Place the left foot backward, diagonally to your left, about 14 inches to the left of your right foot.

3. Draw the right foot up to the left, weight on right.

4. Step straight forward with your left foot, weight on left.

Repeat the entire step of four counts.

Note that the first and four steps are done slowly and each of these steps receives a full count. The second and third steps are done quickly and receive only half as much time.

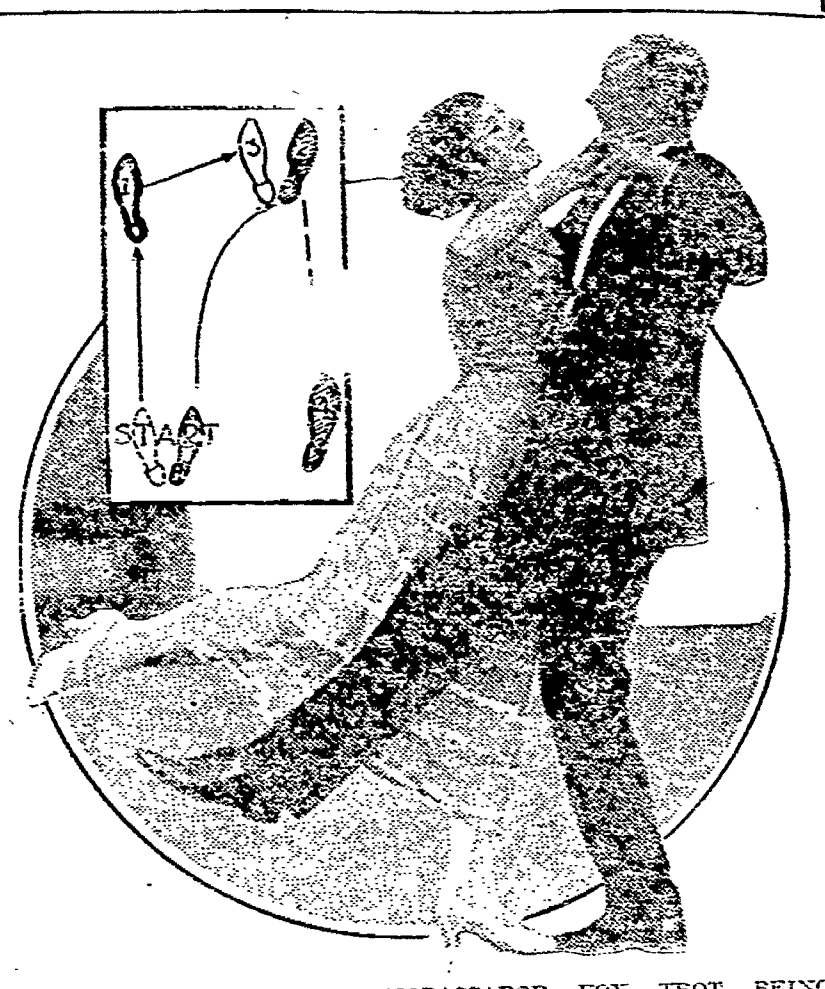

COMBINATION NO. 2

This movement is one of the most delightful in the fox trot and extremely popular among the better dancers.

Man's part:

1. Begin with the left foot and take a long slow walking step directly forward.

2. Take a long quick step forward on the right foot, placing it about ten inches to the right.

THE FOURTH STEP IN THE AMBASSADOR FOX TROT BEING DEMONSTRATED BY ARTHUR MURRAY, ITS ORIGINATOR, AND ALLEEN MEEHAN.

3. Quickly draw the left foot up to the right, heels together. (So far you have taken three steps, the first one is a slow step while the second and third are done quickly.)

4. Take a long step forward on the right foot and hold the weight on this foot for two counts while you extend the left foot in front, lifting it about two inches off the floor.

Repeat the entire movement.

Lady's part:

1. Begin with the right foot and take a long slow step directly backward.

2. Quickly step backward on the left foot, placing it ten inches to left.

3. Draw the right foot up to the left quickly, weight on right and heels together.

4. Take a long slow step backward on the left foot and hold the weight there for two counts while you extend the right foot backward, lifting it about two inches off the floor.

Repeat the entire movement.

Receive Census Book

Complete 1923 census data now is available to the people of Appleton through receipt at the chamber of commerce office of a book containing the general census report and tables analyzing the census from many angles. The book contains 1,410 pages and is issued by the United States census bureau. The public is invited to use it.

What's the Verdict?

THE test of a mealtime drink is not alone how it tastes, but also what it does. Many a coffee-user finds wakefulness and restlessness after drinking coffee with the evening meal—and other health-disturbances follow on.

There's double pleasure and benefit in Postum; delightful taste, complete satisfaction, and agreeable friendship with nerves and health.

There's charm without harm in Postum. Let a ten-days' trial of Postum instead of coffee show you the marked improvement in health and comfort which so many others have found.

Sold by grocers everywhere!

Postum for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

Some Ideas For Dainty Dishes At Christmas

HOLIDAY FRUIT SALAD

1 cup diced pineapple; 1 cup large red California cherries; 1 cup banana balls; ½ cup pistachio or almond meats; 3 oranges.

Combine the shredded orange pulp with the pineapple and arrange in center of salad-dish; place the banana balls around the edge after dipping them in lemon juice. Place the cherries on top. Sprinkle with the finely chopped nut-meats. Make thick sirup with orange, lemon and cherry or cranberry juice and sugar, and pour over the fruit. Let stand a while before serving. If preferred, a whipped-cream dressing may be used. Any holiday fruit salad may be garnished with thick cranberry jelly cut or molded in fancy shapes. A poinsettia fruit salad is not altogether new, but is nice for the holiday. Place a slice of pineapple on lettuce leaves, arranged on individual salad-plates, fill the center with a banana ball, sprinkle with finely chopped pistachio-nuts. Spread the pineapple ring with lemon marmalade, and arrange strips of pimento on the pineapple to stimulate the petals of a poinsettia.

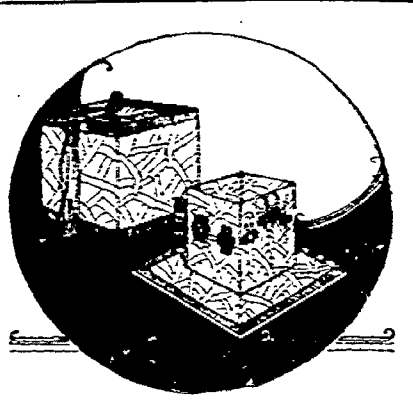

PRINCESS PLUM PUDDING

2 tablespoons gelatin, 1 cup of milk, 1 cup Sultana raisins, 1-4 cup shredded orange-rind, 1-4 cup cold water, 1 cup hot water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 ounce of chocolate or coco, 1 cup cream, 1-4 cup shredded citron, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup nut-meats, ½ teaspoon salt, candied cranberries.

Place the grated chocolate in a saucepan and pour over the water, and stir until melted. Dissolve the gelatin in the cold water, and then stir into the hot water. Add the sugar, cream, 1-4 cup shredded citron, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup nut-meats, ½ teaspoon salt, candied cranberries.

SEWING BOX

To make this attractive sewing box take two boxes, one about seven inches square and the other five or six, so that the smaller one will fit inside the other and leave a comfortable margin.

Remove the top and bottom of each box and discard the top and bottom of the smaller one. Cover all surfaces, inside and out, with ribbon applied with a thin spread of glue. Attach the inner box to the bottom of the larger one, as shown in the sketch. Add little racks of grosgrain ribbon for the necessary tools and attachments of sewing and then attach the top and sides.

Finish all the edges with a binding of plain ribbon, and decorate the lid with a chenille tassel.

ding first the salt and the vanilla. Beat up cream until stiff, fold a little red jelly into this to give it pink tinge, then carefully stir it through the mixture. Pour into mold lined with candied cranberries and stars cut out of candied orange-rind. When firm, turn out and garnish the edge with holly and berries.

Bride Should Try Hand At Suppers First

The growing tendency of young couples to do all entertaining outside of the home, at a restaurant or club is to be deplored. It is most expensive in the first place and it also fails to provide the young wife with the experiences she needs in the art of being a hostess.

If the young home manager must cook and serve a meal without the help of a maid, a dinner is rather a formidable undertaking, although with a little practice it is quite possible.

You have no doubt dined at many tables where a dinner consisting of soup, meat and two vegetables, followed by a salad, dessert, and coffee, was perfectly cooked and daintily served by the hostess herself.

For her first entertaining the bride would do well to confine herself to an easier meal, say a Sunday evening supper. There is always something rather informal about this meal. As most people dine in the early afternoon hours on Sunday, supper may be served later than usual, and it may follow music or some entertainment suitable to the occasion.

The meal may properly consist of only one hot dish which can be easily popped into the oven or made in a chopped almonds and walnut-meats mixed, 1 teaspoon almond extract, 2 cups flour, 1-3 cup butter or margarin, 2 eggs, 3 level teaspoons baking-powder, vanilla icing.

Cream together the butter and sugar. Add the milk and half of the flour and beat up until light. To the remainder of the flour add baking-powder and a pinch of salt, and lastly the whipped white of eggs.

Bake in two layers in moderate oven. Ice both layers with a white vanilla frosting and decorate with halved nut-meats on top.—From the Designer Magazine.

chafing dish on the table. Aside from this, dainty sandwiches or tea biscuits may be served, and a salad of canned fruits and small cakes make excellent dessert.

LETTER FROM PRISCILLA BRADFORD TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

MY DEAR MR. PRESCOTT:

I am writing you this without the knowledge of your dear mother, but I think it is not only right but important that you should know that your mother is in a very serious condition.

For the last few days she has refused all food except the breast of chicken or some other dainty morsel with which I have tried to tempt her appetite. I have begged and begged her to assuage her unhappiness with tears, but she has not wept at all.

She says very little except in short exclamations like, "How could he do it?" "How could he do that?" "I cannot understand it!" etc. etc.

Of course, I do not know to what she refers, but I am sure, my dear Mr. Prescott, if you could see her and hear her grief-stricken accents, you would feel as I do, that she is a woman who has been hurt by something or some one, almost beyond her limit of either spiritual or physical endurance.

I hope you will not think I am intruding in writing you this letter, but your dear mother has been such a friend to me and I find in her such a wealth of straightforward principles and unflinching zeal for right living, that I count myself fortunate in being able to spend more or less of my time with her. I do not want to make Mrs. Prescott Jr. envious, but I cannot help writing you my feelings in this regard.

Your mother seems to be very much concerned about Snarcs. (Surely you know, Mr. Prescott, I would not refer to this to you, almost a perfect stranger, were I not in turn so concerned about your mother's health.) She has only been able to put a quarter as much as usual into her savings account at the bank, and it has preyed upon her mind greatly, especially as she seems to feel that, even this amount must be further depleted by the payment of a comparatively small bill to the man who painted her house.

I took the liberty of telling her that I knew you did not understand about it, that you were not heartless, nor thoughtless even though you had married a modern girl or rather a girl with all the modern tendencies toward excitement and frivolous living.

I did this because I have come to the slow but sure conclusion that, unless something can be done to clear up this misunderstanding between you and your mother, you will not have her in the land of living long. Will you please receive my kindest inquiries as to the state of Mrs. Prescott's health and believe me always,

Yours very truly,
PRISCILLA BRADFORD.

TOMORROW—Wires and a letter—Leslie is better.

I'll show him! I'm not going to have him around!"

And he streaked out of the clover patch, right under Sniffer's astonished nose, and tore home.

Master Galtop and Nancy and Nick saw the whole thing. "If Johnny had known that was Sniffer, he'd have been too scared to move," laughed the fairman. "Sometimes it's a good thing to be foolish."

Adventures Of The Twins

Johnny Jack's Shadow

Johnny Jack Rabbit was having the most beautiful time. He was racing with himself, or rather he was racing with his shadow.

"I'll bet I can beat you to the aspen tree," he panted, starting to run again, not waiting for an answer.

Suddenly he began to chuckle. "I'll fool him," he said to himself. "I'll fool that silly shadow fellow. I'll put on my wind brake and stop so quickly, he'll go on ahead and not notice where I've gone. I'll hide in that patch of sweet clover and he'll never find me. I'm tired of him going everywhere I go."

Johnny Jack looped along on his long legs for a minute or two. His shadow, sticking close beside him, neither getting ahead nor behind, and no wonder it made Johnny nervous.

All at once Johnny stuck his enormous ears forward like sails on a cat boat (this "wind-brake" he called them) and it stopped him as suddenly as a wreck. And then without a look to right or left, he slid into the patch of sweet clover "for" ten times as high as his head, and stopped. It was like going into a forest, all dark and quiet and sweet smelling with not a bit of sunshine anywhere.

Johnny looked around carefully. "Hee, hee, hee," he giggled. "I bet him that time! That silly old shadow of mine is still going. I'll bet you. He'll wonder where I've gone. Well, well! While I'm here I may as well be enjoying myself. I'm I'm! This clover smells wonderful!"

And he began to break off great bunches with his teeth and chew them up as fast as he could.

He was so busy eating and chuckling over his own joke that he never noticed a dark shaggy figure with its nose to the ground, that had followed him into the clover patch.

It was Sniffer, Kyote, Johnny Jack's worst enemy.

Suddenly Sniffer made a mis-step and a twig cracked under his foot. Johnny raised his head at that. "If that pecky shadow hasn't found me!" he declared in disgust. "Well, Cattle 9,000; fed steers yearlings and desirable beef heifers active; strong to 25 higher; fat cows steady to strong; bulls strong to 10 higher; fat steer run largely short; fed; early sales largely 7.75 @ 7.85; some weight steers 11.50; choice yearlings 12.25; few loads strong to heavy weight highly finished steers held considerably above 12.00; stockers and feeders firm; some dealers 25 to 50 higher; packers paying upward to 10.00; outside 10.50 and above; light vealers 9.00 @ 9.25. Sheep 11,000; slow; killing classes generally steady; feeding lambs scarce; looks around steady good and choice fat lambs 12.50 @ 13.00; early to city butchers 12.15; odd lots medium and heavyweight ewes 6.50 @ 7.00; no early sales feeding lambs.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET

Chicago — Butter lower; receipts 7,635 tubs; creamery extras 53; standards 49½; extra firsts 50 @ 52; firsts 46 @ 48; seconds 42½ @ 43½. Cheese unchanged. Eggs higher; receipts 2,510 cases; firsts 46 @ 50; ordinary firsts 37 @ 42. Poultry alive lower; fowls 14 @ 20½; springs 15½; roosters 12½; geese 15; turkeys 22.

CHICAGO CHEESE MARKET

Chicago — Cheese trading in the market here was very quiet Tuesday with only small scattered sales reported. There was no demand on the part of buyers and dealers were apparently expecting none until after the holidays. The market seemed fairly steady at quoted prices on all styles with the exception of Longhorns. This style reflected the slight decline on the Plymouth board with dealers asking 1½ to one cent lower than those of last week. Dealers continued to be the best sellers with a few poor second with little interest in other styles.

BADGER G.O.P. ASK COOLIDGE TO HELP CRUSH INSURGENCY

Capitol Rumor Says Administration Flirting With La-Follette Group

the veteran Wisconsin senator whose hold on the people is more personal than political.

For several weeks prior to the opening of congress, there have been rumors that the administration was dithering with the LaFollette group.

When it was announced, for instance, that Mr. Coolidge had invited Senator

LaFollette to confer with him, the regulars say in that move an effort to compromise. But Mr. LaFollette has not accepted the White House invitation, pleading illness. Meanwhile he has directed the fight against the regular Republican organization from his home. There is a good deal of patronage to be distributed from time to time and the necessity of recognizing either the regulars who are seeking to gain strength out of that very recognition, or the LaFollette Republicans who are already in office. The latter have shown their hostility and the chances are the administration will abandon its plan of compromising with them.

The cause of the rebellion is attributed to the rules, but the insurgent group knows very well that nobody can assure them of a revision of the rules except a majority of the members of the house of representatives, and that neither Mr. Gillett nor Mr.

Longworth has the authority to make pledges. Without stating what reforms they want, the insurgents have used the rules issue as a basis for their warfare.

A fusion of Democrats with Republicans would easily end the present situation and make possible the passage of needed legislation, but the Democrats are loath to take the initiative until the olive branch is held out to them by the majority party. Also the Democrats feel that if the Republican party can not function, the country should know it and should next time return a majority of Democrats. The argument they use is that the Republican party is no longer past, and that the Democratic party, made up as it usually is of representatives from the south and the east, is bound to present a united front.

Radicalism has not shown itself in the Democratic ranks to any extent and the Democratic leaders point to their record as proof that Democratic leadership would be better for the country.

But even in their anxiety to obtain control of the house, the Democrats truly say they do not want it now.

They want that it would be of no advantage to have the responsibility for organizing the house under the present circumstances and that it is necessary for the people to rest in the Democrats that responsibility at the polls.

It is not exaggerating to say that the session of congress has opened in an atmosphere of depression and discouragement as party government

CALL MEETING SOON FOR ORGANIZATION OF STATE C. OF C.

Corbett Delivers Address At Milwaukee Meeting Of Commercial Secretaries

The most definite step which has been taken yet to organize a state chamber of commerce in Wisconsin was a vote at the meeting of the Wisconsin Association of Commercial Secretaries in Milwaukee Tuesday requesting Emanuel L. Philipp, former governor, to call a state meeting soon to take up this question.

This action followed addresses by Mr. Philipp and by Hugh G. Corbett of this city, president of the state secretaries' association, made at a luncheon tendered the organization by Milwaukee Association of Commerce. Mr. Philipp is president of the Milwaukee association.

LOSE NO TIME

The former governor expressed his belief that no time should be lost in forming a state chamber and mentioned various activities now before the state which could be handled best by such a body. Mr. Corbett took up the organization side of the matter and told what steps were proper. He reviewed data he collected from other state chambers and quoted from their letters suggesting the best procedure. He also told how Illinois chamber was organized. He was one of the secretaries who assisted in launching it.

At Mr. Corbett's suggestion the vote was taken to have Mr. Philipp issue a call instead of having it come from the secretaries, because a state chamber must be organized by businessmen and commercial bodies, he said. Mr. Philipp will obtain the sentiment of the entire state before he issues the call, he declared.

MORE CREDIT BUREAUS

Closer cooperation between credit men of the state and chamber of commerce also was arranged through a conference of the secretaries with Milwaukee Association of Credit Men at a dinner given by the latter body. The aim will be to establish a credit bureau like the one in operation in Appleton in every city in Wisconsin. The credit men were asked to plan their state meetings at the same time the secretaries meet, because the two bodies are closely related.

Mr. Corbett spoke at this dinner on the new retail bureau of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, and told some of the things it aims to accomplish along the lines of better merchandising. Credit and traffic departments will be included in the activities, he said.

STATE FIRE STANDARDS

The Appleton secretary also took up with the commercial organization men the proposal for standard fire hose couplings for all cities of Wisconsin so the apparatus of any one city would be of use to every other in case of conflagration. The plan met with hearty accord and each chamber of commerce will give it consideration. The standard coupling is three and one-sixteenth inches in diameter with seven and a half screw threads to the
